INVENTORY OF PROPERTY OF SPANIARDS TAKEN.

Villa to Follow United States As to Foreigners' Rights.

Arrests Being Made Daily of Those Suspected as Huerta Sympathizers.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, Dec. 19.—General Francisco Villa said today that he would be disposed to follow the suggestions of the United States as to the rights of foreigners in Mexico. In conformity with this plan he named a committee to take an inventory of the property of the expelled Spaniards, and said he would indemnify such as had not actively supported the Huerta government. General Villa has received through the American consul representations which expressed the position of the United States in assuming moral responsibility for the welfare of citizens of other nations, and which called on General Villa for a strict accounting of his acts should the rights of any foreigners be violated.

A communication also has been received from General Carranza, the head of the revolution, following the protests of Spaniards that their property had been seized, and the protests of other foreigners that they had been forced to pay money to the rebels' cause.

"I ordered that all property belonging to Spaniards be confiscated and held pending an investigation as to who of the Spaniards aided Huerta," said Villa. "In order to guarantee the property while it is in our hands I have named honorable and responsible persons to take an inventory of it. It was necessary to expel the Spaniards, because their lives were in danger here, and it was necessary to impose a penalty of death in order that they would go.

"It is well known that in the uprising in Mexico City last February hundreds of Spaniards in Ciudad sided with Felix Diaz, and with arms cooperated in the uprising which enabled Huerta to bring so much suffering to Mexicans. When I attacked Torreon Spaniards again fired on us on the pretext that they were guarding their own interests. In Chihuahua the majority of Spaniards were Huerta sympathizers. When I entered the city I resolved on their expulsion, because their lives were in danger from the feeling held against them by our army.

"The rights of all other foreigners have been and will be protected. Arrests are being made daily of persons suspected of being Huerta sympathizers. They are held pending an investigation of their acts."

General Villa probably will remain here until the arrival of General Carranza, the time of whose coming is unknown.

HETCH HETCHY BILL SIGNED.

Wilson Believes Public Needs of Region Are Served in Measure.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Wilson today signed the Hetch Hetchy bill, granting a public water supply to San Francisco. He accompanied his signature with a statement declaring that he believed the public needs of the region concerned were served by the bill without impairing the usefulness of the public domain. The President's statement follows:

"I have signed this bill, because it seemed to serve the pressing public needs of the region concerned better than they could be served in any other way, and yet did not impair the usefulness or materially detract from the beauty of the public domain.

"The bill was opposed by so many public-spirited men, thoughtful of the interests of the people and of fine conscience in every matter of public interest, that I have naturally sought to scrutinize it very closely. I take the liberty of thinking that their fears and objections were not well founded. I believe the bill to be, on the whole, in the public interest, and I am the less uncertain in that judgment, because I find it concurred in by men whose best energies have been devoted to conservation and the safeguarding of the people's interests, and many of whom have besides had a long experience in the public service, which has made them circumspect in forming an opinion on such matters."

JURY DISCHARGED, UNABLE TO AGREE.

Out Twelve Hours and Twice Ask Instructions, in Smith Case.

Reported to Have Stood Eight for Manslaughter, Four for Acquittal.

[Special despatch to the News.]

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 19.—At 10:20 o'clock last evening, after being out more than 12 hours, the superior court jury in the Smith murder case for the killing of the Eagan boy in Newport, last July, announced that they were unable to reach an agreement. Judge Doran was summoned to the court room and the foreman, Mr. Packard, declared that the jurors could not decide upon a verdict and there was no likelihood of any. A disagreement was recorded and the members of the jury were allowed to depart.

CHARLES B. SMITH.

The case was placed in the hands of the jury at 10:12 o'clock yesterday morning, after the charge by Judge Doran. They had luncheon at 1:30 and the jury room door was again locked. Not a word was received until 4:25 o'clock, at which time a rap was heard and the sheriffs responded.

It was generally believed that they had finally decided upon a verdict. The prisoner was brought in and the attorneys took their places. The prisoner appeared decidedly confident, as did his friends and counsel. The judge took his place on the bench and the jury took the seats which they had occupied about a week.

The judge was aware that the jury had not determined upon a verdict, but sought information. "You, gentlemen, have not been able to agree upon a verdict," said Judge Doran "Is it a question of law that is bothering you?"

In response to the question from the bench the foreman said, "Yes, it is a question of law. The fact of the matter is, the thing that is being argued is: 'Who started the fight, the defendant or the sailor?'"

The judge stated that this was a question of fact and not of law, and something they must decide themselves.

To assist them, Judge Doran gave additional instructions. He told the jury that, even if Smith had started the fight on the board walk and run away, and as the state contended started the fight on the beach, in which a knife is alleged to have been used, and had run away, he was no longer to be considered the aggressor.

Further, Judge Doran said, at the suggestion of the assistant attorney general, that they could judge the witnesses, both for the state and for the defense, as to their credibility, by their appearance and actions. He also told them they could take into consideration the fact that the defendant as a witness was an interested person in the trial.

After the explanation, the members of the jury appeared to be in a more decided frame of mind and once again retired. At this time it was expected that they would soon reach an agreement and those interested remained about the court house.

About 5:15 o'clock the jury again rapped, and the court room was quickly filled as soon as the activity was noticed. The spectators were again doomed to disappointment, for the jury was after further information. The same procedure was followed, the prisoner being again brought up from his cell.

The foreman stated that it was the wish of the jury that the judge repeat his instructions as to the starting of the fight. Another man asked about self-defense, and if any distance could be set in this case at which the prisoner could be declared in danger of his life.

Judge Doran informed them that they must satisfy themselves that the defendant, at the time he shot, really believed he was in danger of death or bodily harm.

At the request of another juror, the testimony of William J. O'Connell and Mrs. Lawton was read by the stenographer.

It was after six o'clock when they returned to their room, and nothing more was heard until it was finally decided to report. It proved a dreary wait for the court attaches. The members of the immediate family of the prisoner were present when the jury reported.

Earlier in the day a Newport official was present in the court room, ready to arrest the prisoner in the event of an acquittal.

The prisoner was kept in the court house over night. He may be taken to Newport today.

According to those who had an opportunity to learn, the jury stood eight for manslaughter and four for acquittal.

TO SEND DECEMBER 31.

Wireless Time Signals to Mark Death of Old and Birth of New Year.

From the Arlington radio station of the Naval Observatory wireless time signals are to be sent broadcast over the continent and over a good part of the Atlantic and Pacific to mark the death of the old year and the birth of the new.

The sending will begin at 11:55, seventy-fifth meridian time, December 31. The ticking of the observatory clock will be repeated automatically by the Arlington station, except the [illegible] fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth fifty-seventh, fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth seconds of each minute, which will be omitted for purposes of identification. In the fifty-ninth minute and thirty-five seconds after the forty-ninth second will be omitted until the instant of midnight, which will be indicated by the beginning of a set of short clock beats and a third in duration. The time will be sent on 2,500 and 4,000 metres.

Women of St. Paul's Preparing Choir Vestments; Grange Social.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The Ladies' Association and the Guild of St. Paul's Church met in the parish house Thursday afternoon to continue the work of making vestments for the choristers, which will make its first public appearance Christmas eve. A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Frederick C. Cooke, president of the Junior Auxiliary, for whom the garments are being made, much was accomplished. There was a large attendance at the social given by Portsmouth Grange Thursday evening. One meeting in the year is devoted to dancing and no business is done, and this date was chosen for the purpose. Knowles' orchestra furnished the music. The committee was Messrs. Jesse I. Durfee, Lincoln C. Anthony and LeRoy Denison. A collation was served and dancing continued until nearly midnight.

The weekly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Christian Church will be discontinued until January. The Christmas tree will be held at this church Tuesday evening. All the other churches—Friends, Methodist Episcopal and St. Paul's—will have their trees Wednesday evening and that at the Social Studio will be Wednesday afternoon.

The Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church met Thursday afternoon and evening. The attendance was good and an appetizing supper was served.

St. Marys Choir guild had an all-day thimble party Thursday at the home of Mrs. I. Lincoln Sherman.

The King's Daughters met with Mrs. H. Frank Anthony Thursday afternoon.

A large party from Eureka Lodge, I. O. O. F. and A. M., visited Sesqochocke Lodge Saturday night, going in Mr. Wheeler's large automobile. Next Saturday evening the degree will be worked on seventeen members at Eureka Lodge. The regular meeting was held Thursday evening.

ALL STARS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT.

Two Goals in Last Two Minutes Clinch Game for Father Mathews.

Naval Training Station Team Wins From the Army and Navy in Lively Basket Ball.

In the best contest seen at the Father Mathew hall this year, the Newport All Stars went down to defeat in their first game of the season, before the Tabs, by the close score of 31-25, it being anyone's victory until within five minutes of the end of the second half. The All Stars outplayed the Tabs in the first half, and again held their own until the closing minutes when two goals in the last two minutes clinched the game for Father Mathews. The crowd which numbered nearly 400 spectators, was evenly divided in its sympathies and roars of applause came as every good work shot.

The crowd, packed in every available place in the hall often proved a hindrance to the players, but the cheering of each team's supporters urged them to put forth their best efforts.

In the contest for Newport's best centre Marshall had the "edge" on McGrath. The high school centre won the approval of the crowd by out-jumping McGrath every time, a feat rarely done and also by doing more floor work. Their players scored about the same number of points, but Marshall's alleged work was the better.

The work of Arnold and Monson for the Tabs was one of the features. Both showed an excellent game, and considering the fact that they had never worked together before their team work was good. They made shots which brought forth a roar, and kept their team in the running for the greater part of the game. Jemail played a good defensive game, time after time breaking up the Tab passing.

Throughout the first half the All Stars led nearly all the time, playing a passing game which bewildered the Father Mathew team. Halley scored the first goal, but Monson got tied on a great shot from the side. Arnold gave the All Star fans cause to cheer again when he tallied his first goal and with Monson coming back with another things looked well for the Star team. McCarthy bolstered up the faltering Tabs when they were in a confused state by netting an easy one.

With the score 6-4 in favor of the All Stars, Marshall worked the ball up the hall in fine style, scoring a well earned goal. Goals by Nolan and McCarthy tied the score, and again the Tabs let loose their cheering. After some pretty team work, Monson dropped in another, but McCarthy offset this one. Nolan put his team into the lead by an overhead shot. Arnold tied the score again, but Halley put the Tabs in a 14-12 lead when he made his second goal. The Tab lead was short-lived, however, as Arnold came back with the best goal made during the evening, and Monson followed with another. On a following play [illegible] the crowd and the All Stars players, thinking the referee had blown it outside, made no attempt to reach the ball. McCarthy [illegible] in an uninterrupted [illegible] which was allowed to count, the referee ruling the time had expired at 16 minutes.

The playing in the second period became harder, and at some times fierce. Halley again tallied the first goal, and after five minutes of the hardest kind of playing Arnold scored in a foul [illegible] After some time the Tabs took a spurt. McGrath [illegible] in his first [illegible] following it up. Horgan [illegible] good which was not counted, [illegible] McCarthy dropped in a [illegible] Tabs have more [illegible] 17-19 in their favor. The members of the All Stars [illegible] Halley. The latter tallied [illegible] Monson started [illegible] sensational one, [illegible] followed with another. Marshall brought the All Stars within [illegible] of the Tabs, with about [illegible] minutes to play, when he put [illegible] two Tab [illegible] A goal [illegible] the All Stars would have tied the [illegible] Halley and Nolan [illegible] Hogan as usual played a [illegible] game at guard, while Halley's work was also good.

It has been practically decided that these two teams will play another game, but the date has not been set.

The line-up and summary:

Father Mathews	All Stars.
Nolan, r. f.	l. g., Jemail
McCarthy, l. f.	r. g., Lawrence
McGrath, c.	c., Marshall
Halley, r. g.	l. f., Monson
Horgan, l. g.	r. f., Arnold

Score—Father Mathew 31, All Stars 25. Goals from floor—Monson 6, McCarthy 5, Arnold 4, Halley 4, McGrath 2, Marshall 2, Nolan 3, Lawrence. Goals from the foul line—Arnold, McCarthy. Referee—Kirwin. Scorer—Kelley. Timer—Walters. Time—20-minute halves.

A lively basket ball game was played in the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium, the Naval Training Station team winning by a score of 50 to 30 from the the Army and Navy. The visitors excelled in passing. Clifford, especially making a fine showing. The team has not yet been beaten this season.

The Rogers basket ball team leaves this afternoon to play its first away-from-home game of the year. Central Falls being the opponents. The central Falls quintet have won all the games played on its own floor this season, but Rogers should have little if any difficulty in defeating them.

Saturday night the teams will play in the high school gymnasium, with the [illegible] team as opponents.

FLAG OFFICERS CONTINUE.

Ticket of New York Yacht Club Elected at Sixth General Meeting.

At the sixth general meeting of the New York Yacht Club held Thursday evening in New York, officers and members of the various committees were elected for the ensuing year. The three flag officers, who served so well during 1913, will continue in the same offices next year.

Commodore Dallas B. Pratt presided. There was an unusually large attendance, 45 yachts being represented. Nineteen new members were elected, and the prizes presented by the flag officers and others, which were raced for during the yachting season of 1913, were on exhibition.

The ticket, as presented by the nominating committee, was unanimously elected and is as follows:

Commodore—Dallas B. Pratt.
Vice Commodore—George F. Baker, Jr.
Rear Commodore—J. P. Morgan.
Secretary—George A. Cormack.
Treasurer—Tarrant Putnam.
Measurer—Harold W. Webb.

Banana Shortcake

Into three cupfuls of sifted flour rub two tablespoonfuls of butter; add one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful sugar and two teaspoonfuls baking powder. Mix to a soft dough with cold milk and bake in two layers. Grate one-half of the peel of an orange, cut it in half, crosswise, and scoop out the pulp; rub four bananas through a sieve, add the orange rind and pulp and one cupful sugar. Lastly, stir in one half cupful of thick cream, beaten stiff, and spread between and over the cakes. Serve with sweet cream or custard.

Swiss Rice Soup.

Wash thoroughly one-half cupful of rice, put in a kettle with two quarts of boiling water, add one tablespoonful chopped onion, a tiny bit of mace, sprig of parsley and a scant teaspoonful of salt; boil slowly until the rice is pulpy. Rub through a sieve and re-heat to the boiling point. Add one tablespoonful of flour blended with a little cold milk, stir until thickened. Add pepper to taste, more salt, if needed, and simmer for five minutes. Beat two eggs, add one-half cupful of good cream. Draw the kettle to the side of the fire and pour in slowly, stirring well; sprinkle in two tablespoonfuls of grated Swiss cheese and take immediately from the fire. As served, drop a pinch of chopped parsley over each plateful.

English Muffins

Scald one pint of milk and dissolve in it one tablespoonful of butter and one scant teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm, add one-half cake of compressed yeast dissolved in one-quarter cupful of warm water and stir in sufficient sifted flour to make a thick drop batter. Beat hard for five minutes, cover closely and stand in a warm place to rise. When light, grease some muffin rings and place on a hot greased griddle. Stir down the batter and half fill the rings. At first draw the griddle a little to one side until the batter rises almost to the top of the rings, then draw forward. When the muffins are brown on one side turn them over, slip off the rings and brown again. Pull apart, lay a piece of butter in each, close, pile on a hot plate and send to the table.

Charlotte Russe

Soak one quarter of a package of gelatine in one quarter of a cupful of cold water. Beat together two eggs, one-third cupful of sugar and one cupful of milk, stir over the fire in a double boiler until a thick custard. Add the soaked gelatine, take from the fire and stir until the gelatine has dissolved; then strain. Set aside until it begins to thicken, add one teaspoonful of vanilla and one tablespoonful of sherry and whip hard. As it again begins to thicken add lightly one pint of heavy cream whipped to a firm froth and then carefully through from the bottom for a moment or two. Have cups lined with split lady fingers or thin slices of sponge cake. Fill with the charlotte and garnish with candied cherries or other fruits.

NEW YORK LETTER.

The "Police Girls" Expected to Accomplish Many Needed Reforms.

Brokers' Incomes Decreasing—Coin Matching Swindlers—Truck Farm Near Fifth Avenue.

[Correspondence of The News.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The "feminine cops" are doing voluntary police duty in a quiet way throughout this city. Many of the girl "cops" are still in school. Their efforts are directed to the prevention and suppression of vice crime and ignorance. Several are very young, their ages ranging from 12 to 18. They wear badges and are divided into "beats." Each girl is responsible for her own district and reports any irregularity to the head of the organization, who sends in a report to the proper city official. Before a girl becomes a member of the force she signs a pledge, in which she promises to help in maintaining sanitary conditions in the streets and homes. They are pledged to be on the alert for violations of the building laws, keep fire escapes free from rubbish, and to be on the lookout for contagious diseases. They are instructed to prevent any of their weaker sisters from straying from the straight path. In fact, they are to report any crime or evil conduct they see.

One of the most important duties, and one in which they are of great assistance to the various rescue societies, is their work in dance halls, moving picture theatres, ice cream parlors and similar centres of amusement. Through the older girls who attend the dances the organization is able to furnish police officials reports that will supply the latter with evidence enough to clean the dance halls of the vicious element. If the "police girls" prove as successful as the "police boys," an organization that has been in operation for some time, it is believed that the entire city will be greatly benefited.

The members of the Stock Exchange experienced the dullest day in the history of the Exchange November 24, when the grand total of business transacted amounted to 56,600 shares of stock and 818 bonds. July 31 of this year only 66,674 shares changed hands, making it to that time the record day of the Exchange's history. The new figures, however, have plunged Wall Street into still deeper gloom. There are 700 firms represented on the Stock Exchange, with 1,100 members listed. The business transacted November 24 netted each firm an average of $4.31, the average earnings of each member being $1.40. Opposed to this it is estimated that the overhead charges of exchange firms range from $25 to $1,000 per day, and that the individual members of the Stock Exchange pay from $30 to $200 a day for living expenses. Their seats cost from $30,000, the lowest record, to $96,000, the high mark.

Experts have figured that the business transacted November 24 netted the exchange firms in commissions $2,952.62. Counting three as the average number of partners in each of the 700 firms represented, pessimists figured that the 2,100 members would be forced to live on that $2,952.62. If days like this occur frequently, it is said that many firms and individuals will retire before the first of the year.

While New York's gambling houses have been experiencing extremely lean days of late, there is one kind of swindler who still flourishes. This is the gang of coin matchers who operate in the Times Square district and along Fifth Avenue. This gang is composed of men ranging from 21 to 30 years old and their victims are usually persons of about the same age who are in the city for the first time and are out for a good time. Members of this gang meet the incoming trains and steamships where they spot their intended victims.

The general plan of operation is to follow the newcomer to his hotel, where one of the operators will learn his name and a little information concerning him. After all the preliminaries have been arranged, during which time the bunco man has made the acquaintance of the stranger and has informed him that he also is a stranger in town, and suggesting that they see the town together, a confederate will approach the pair and inquire for information regarding the location of some institution in the city, explaining that he is a stranger. In this manner the three became interested in each other. It is then suggested that they have a drink, each insisting that he be allowed to foot the bill. To settle the dispute one of the two operators suggests that they match coins, the result being that his confederate loses. In paying the bill he produces a large roll of money, which the second operator draws to the attention of the victim with the suggestion that they work together and get the roll by matching coins. Thus the trap is laid, the result being that the stranger, instead of relieving the other fellow of his roll finds that he has lost his own roll.

It is said that a conviction of members of this gang is almost impossible to obtain on the charge of larceny, as the evidence always shows that the victim had been trying to swindle the defendant and in doing had brought on his own misfortune.

The most expensive truck farm in the world is located in one of the busiest sections of Gotham. The plot, which faces on Fifth avenue, is 25 feet wide and 108 feet deep. It is assessed for taxation at nearly $500,000. This, however does not indicate its actual value, as real estate experts figure that the plot is worth more than a million dollars, owing to the fact that it is close to the Grand Central Station, the subway express station and other traffic conveniences. This "farm" is an object lesson to many thousands of Gothamites and other daily passers, and results show that Fifth Avenue land is as productive of choice vegetables as the near-by truck farms on Long Island and in New Jersey. During the last summer corn, peas, beans and lettuce were produced and its owners are envied by many of their neighbors who are not able to secure vegetables for their tables from their own backyards.

Longacre.

VALUABLE PEARLS.

At a sale held in Paris a necklace of three rows of large Oriental pearls, listed as belonging to "Mme. de X." were sold to a dealer for $160,600. The 123 pearls forming the necklace were, in the opinion of experts, only slightly inferior to those of the necklace sold in Paris last January for $240,000, which is the world's record price.

AN EARLY SHOPPING TRAGEDY.

[Robertus Love, in New York Sun.]

The chorus sang, "Shop early!"—'twas the chorus of acclaim
That seeks to rescue Christmas from a shocking shopping shame.
From every side we heard it, and we read it in the press;
The billboards also flaunted it—'twas everywhere, I guess.

Miss Alice Amarantha Ann De Blusterburg began
December first to get immersed in the early shopping plan.
She came down town at eight o'clock within her limousine,
And in her purse she carried rolls of long and lovely green.

From eight to six she shopped, and shopped, but didn't buy—not yet
Because she didn't know for sure exactly what to get
For Agnes, Arabella, Adrianna and the rest;
So home she had her chauffeur drive exclaiming, "What a pest!"

Miss Alice Amarantha Ann came down again next day,
From shop to shop she shopped and shopped in quite the selfsame way.
As yet she couldn't quite decide just what to get for Ted,
For Tim, for Tom, and home she hied at shopping shocking mad.

Thus every day Miss A. A. A. and so forth shopped and shopped;
And every day the wornout girls behind their counters dropped,
And every eve, till Christmas eve, she kept on shopping early
(But never buying anything), till she was crazy, nearly.

On Christmas eve she came at noon, she had to have a rest;
She rushed about from shop to shop in fierce and frantic quest;
But everything she wanted had been purchased by the others
Who had to act as Santa Claus for parents, sisters, brothers.

Miss Alice Amarantha Ann De Blusterburg was so
Fatigued with early shopping that she could no longer go
From shop to shop; she had to drop upon a rest room bed
And swoon—oh, shame!—but when she came unto herself, she said:

"For twenty days I've early shopped as hard as I could do it,
To help those shopworn shopgirls out; I've simply knocked to it.
And now that I've decided what I really want to buy,
These horrid shops have nothing left! Oh, my! Oh, me! Oh, my!"

STRANGE PETS OF CELEBRITIES.

[New York Press.]

The late Lord Avebury used to keep pet wasps, and on one memorable occasion he exhibited a "tame" wasp at one of the sittings of the British association. This particular wasp was captured from a nest in the Pyrenees, but why his lordship should go so far for a wasp when they are so plentiful at home it is hard to say, and though at first too ready with its sting, it became perfectly tame, took sugar from its master's hand, allowed him to stroke it, and always returned to its bottle home.

A certain well known actress, who delights full houses with her art, makes pets of huge spiders, and delights in feeding them, attending to their comfort, and generally mothering and making them as happy as spiders can ever hope to be. It is certain that she is not a member of the company which plays "Kill that fly." She leaves the role to her pet spiders and they play it most effectually.

A French countess, who is well known for her beauty and her eccentricities wore during last season as a neck ornament a beautiful scarabaeous beetle. It was tethered to a ring by a slender gold chain, which allowed the insect to run about on the lady's shoulder. As that shoulder was always bare when the lady wore her beetle, it may be taken for granted that the countess had lost—if she ever had it—that feminine horror of anything creepy-crawly.

AN OLD FIRE ENGINE.

Bothbury, Northumberland, England, is still using a fire engine 123 years old. The engine was presented to the town by Sir George Farquhar in 1788, and is capable of throwing a stream of water 60 feet, more than enough to go over any house in the village. The carriage has solid wooden wheels.

THE MEAT MYSTERY.

There have been many facts which pointed to the increased ability to pay as the only explanation of the higher cost of living, and not one of these is more striking than a census bulletin just issued. According to this the per capita consumption of beef, veal and mutton was 165 pounds in 1909 and 196 in 1899. In 10 years there was almost no change in the amount of meat consumed, but in the price paid a very great change. The increased cost of dressed meats was 73.8 per cent. A family which paid $100 for its meats in 1899 paid $173.80 in 1909, and did not cut down the quantity it ate at all.

The seller is of course trying all the time to secure as much as he can and if the buyer is yielding in the matter prices will certainly go up. During the past 10 or 15 years the country as a whole has been very prosperous. We had a panic six years ago, and have had some dull times, but on the whole there has been employment for everybody and wages have been good. They have advanced considerably. With wages going up, people are able to pay more for meat and grain. The farmers are perfectly willing to take it, and the result is an immense increase in the values of farms during the latest census period.

The consumer has not cut down on his meat rations because the price was going up. He has growled about it, but has paid the price and gone on eating just as much as ever. If he had begun 10 years ago to reduce his meat eating 10 or 20 per cent, the packers or the farmers would have found supplies accumulating on their hands and would have cut prices to obtain customers.

As between these two parties, this bulletin says beef on the hoof has advanced 75.5 per cent, or more than dressed beef. This looks as though the packers were innocent of the higher cost of living and as if the farmer, who always "puts up a poor mouth," were pocketing everything the consumer adds to his expense account, and a little more. He seems to have the better of the packer.

PUBLIC UTILITIES INDISPENSABLE.

The argument for government ownership and operation of public utilities receives added force every time there is actual experience or danger of strikes on the part of employes of any of these concerns. There have been several instances of this sort of late in connection with the telephone service in various parts of the country, and they have shown the extent to which this has become a necessity in these days, the great hardship which would be experienced if it should be stopped for even a brief time, and the need of some form of regulation in order that such a disaster may not take place. The telephone has become so much a part of the ordinary daily life of the people that the fact is not always realized that it is so essential to business and social affairs that it cannot now be omitted without disarranging conditions to such an extent that even a few hours would mean distress to many widespread and varied interests.

The public has indeed, not only in the case of the telephone but also in connection with other public utilities, become so dependent upon them and employed these agencies to such an extent that business cannot be done without them without great loss and inconvenience. The situation is worse than it was before these utilities were introduced, because then people accommodated themselves to the existing conditions and knew how to arrange and arrange their business affairs without these modern conveniences. Now, however, these facilities have been in use so long that comparatively few remember the time when they were not or have any idea how those who were in business then managed their affairs. Even those few who lived under the former conditions have outgrown them, with the result that the cessation of any of these utilities of a public nature for even a brief time would paralyze business and disarrange social affairs.

In such a situation it is dangerous to have business at the mercy of the employes of any public utility, so that if they become dissatisfied and desire to secure more money or better conditions. It is unwise, too, to have strike and thus tie up the entire service and convulse the whole business world by the disarrangement of conditions. It is unwise, too, to have the situation such that employers could hold out against efforts to secure changes in pay or conditions of work which might be reasonable, and so create the same conditions of paralyzation of industries. There should be some way of preventing the possibility of a situation developing in any of the public utilities so that the operation of the service could be stopped or seriously crippled. The danger in such a situation is too great to be invited, or even made possible, for lack of means to prevent its occurrence.

Regulation by law or government ownership would result in protection in these matters and the interests of neither the owner nor the employes should be allowed to override those of the people. At the same time, the welfare of both owners and employes should be cared for, and this can easily be done by regulation. The main point is that the people cannot afford to leave an opportunity under the law for tying up the service which these utilities perform. How that point is to be cared for is not of so much concern as that it should be done in some way, and the protection provided before there has been a serious disarrangement of business through unwarranted interruption of service.

THE SOUTHERN DELEGATIONS.

If the action of a Republican national convention had ever been determined by the Southern delegations there would be substantial reasons for reducing the Southern representation. The South can give no electoral votes to the Republican candidate, and it would be manifestly unreasonable to permit the Republicans of that section, even if the delegations represented what voters there are, to name the candidate which the rest of the country must elect. Yet it is extremely doubtful if any candidate has been chosen by the South There has been great competition to obtain Southern delegations, but that has been because they can be had by trading or management, and because every candidate desires to go into the convention with the largest possible number of instructed delegates; it looks impressive—to him, at least.

Mark Hanna began his campaign for McKinley by taking an tours in Georgia and establishing amicable relations with the Republican politicians of the section, but the Southern delegations did not determine the result. Hanna was equally industrious in the Northern states, though he did not begin there. McKinley had the prestige of the authorship of his tariff, and protection has always been a winning card with the Republicans. Reed's caustic wit had made him many enemies and everybody was McKinley's friend. McKinley was re-nominated in accordance with custom. So was Roosevelt in 1904. Taft was nominated in 1908 because the President at that time directed it, and while Roosevelt had Ormsby McHarg rounding up Southern delegations and switched Frank Hitchcock, also an operator in Southern votes, over to Taft, yet the result was determined without the Southern votes.

The South did not decide the fight between the Grant and the anti-Grant men in 1880, nor did it nominate Blaine, the most popular man in the Republican party, in 1884, and it did not decide the nomination of Harrison in 1888. Nevertheless, if the Southern delegations are smaller and less important there may be less crooked work in trying to corral them than there has been in past years.

A resolution to increase the salary of the president of the New York board of aldermen from $5,000 to $10,000 has been withdrawn at the request of Mr. McAneny, who will fill the office for the next four years. He said: "Perhaps the salary is not what it ought to be, but I think it would be wrong to have the salary of an elected officer changed. I ask quite earnestly that the resolution be withdrawn." Score one for McAneny's sense of honor and good taste.

A treaty between the United States and the Netherlands, just signed, provides that any question between the two countries, which cannot be settled by diplomacy, shall be submitted for investigation to an international commission of five members. Similar treaties with five Central American republics have been signed, but this with the Netherlands is the first under Secretary Bryan's peace plan to be put into effect with a European country.

St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church, New York, has started a new idea in its work. The rector, in announcing the lecture, says: "For the sake of uniformity in the appearance of our choir boys on Sundays, and as a slight evidence of parochial appreciation, we have assigned a special barber to the boys on Saturday mornings and on Sundays before services." Would it be well, also, to establish a church bathtub?

The so called Danbury hatters case, which has finally been decided by the United States court of appeals, against the United Hatters of North America, had been in litigation 10 years. It took a long time to settle it, but the decision against the unionizing and boycotting tactics employed was probably worth waiting for.

President Wilson has disappointed a large number of the citizens of the United States by signing the bill giving the city of San Francisco a water supply from the Hetch Hetchy Valley in the Yosemite Park. It was a doubtful measure, at best.

The Harvard football team has elected Charles E. Brickley captain for next year. Those who saw or read of the recent game with Yale thought he was the whole team.

RADIUM FOR CANCER.

Removes Primary Growth and Makes Doubly Sure All Ordinary Operations.

[Dr. Howard A. Kelly, in American Review of Reviews.]

Now, the radium treatment does about the same thing that the surgeon's knife does The surgeon gets rid of the cancerous tissue by cutting it out in mass; the radium gets rid of it by destroying it cell by cell.

In other words, at the present stage of development, radium works most successfully at the kind of tumors that surgery most easily destroys. These are superficial tumors—of the skin, the face, the jaw, the tongue, and the like. They are the tumors which are on the outside of the body, which we can see and handle. In many such cases radium, according to our experience, seems to be an actual cure. We have had success extending over many months in a considerable number of cases. At first it might seem, since surgery is already quite effective in cancers of this kind, that we have gained nothing. But it is an immense gain. The surgical removal of tumors of the face, for example, involves disfigurement. If one has a cancer on the nose, the only thing to do is to cut off the nose; other affections also involve the removal of an eye, a jaw, a tongue a lip, a chin. When radium destroys such tumors as it does in many cases the face is restored virtually to its normal condition. For example in the case of a little child with a sarcoma on the side of the head which was rapidly growing into the eye, A surgical operation would have necessitated extirpating the eye, and even then would not have checked the growth. Radium, however, has completely obliterated this tumor, and the eye has not ben harmd at all, and the child is now normal in all respects. A remarkable case was that of a woman afflicted with a malignant growth under the sternum; surgery could not even have attempted to deal with it. It was utterly inoperable and hopeless. Radium, however, melted down the growth has widely infiltrated.

When the growth has widely infiltrated surrounding structures, the surgeon is often helpless. After removing the primary growth however, he can irradiate these surrounding tissues and so have a greater chance of removing any stray cells that may be left. Radium, I believe, can thus be used to make doubly sure all ordinary operations for cancer. Another important point in considering the usefulness of radium in superficial tumors is that it does not invoke the suffering of a surgical operation, being practically painless.

THE DANGER OF BEING A MAN.

[New York Tribune]

If present customs continue about the riskiest business will be that of being a man. In our violent reaction from the ancient theory which viewed a male being as vastly more desirable than a female it seems as if the pendulum might swing a little too far the other way. "Man, the unpopular sex," seems to be the slogan of the hour.

We cite especially two cases. The one man was shot by a girl who made the gravest accusations against her victim, but who now seems to have gleaned her accusations from the moving picture films. It is even doubtful whether she so much as knew the object of her bullets.

The other male was a "needle victim." That is to say, he was accused by a young woman of having drugged her with a needle; but as her charges were promptly dismissed in court it seems more fitting to regard the young man as the victim than the young woman.

These young men seem to have been doing nothing more villanious at the moment than walking the streets or traveling in the subways. Is it not time for a little less hysteria and a little more common sense in our attitude toward that archfiend of the universe, mere man?

HATPIN POINTS MUST BE PROTECTED.

The London county council has acted almost simultaneously with the new Parisian prefect of police, who has issued a decree against the wearing of hatpins with unprotected and protruding points in railway stations, street cars, omnibuses and public vehicles.

TEACHERS TO RECEIVE HALF.

Only Money Enough to Pay 50 Per Cent of Amounts Due Them.

"Eating" House License Refused and Resolutions Looking to Work Next Year Introduced.

The Board of Aldermen at its weekly meeting Thursday evening disposed of some matters and left others undisposed of. The Christmas pay of the public school teachers will be 50 per cent of the amounts due them, as that is all the city has to pay unless the state sends some money, and there seems no prospect of this. The pay rolls were approved for other departments without trouble, as there are funds available, but the schools do not have a cent left over and there was no balance in their account.

There was a secret conference with Attorney Levy on account of the Leonard steam roller claims. Alderman Hughes introduced some resolutions looking toward work next year. The chief of police had an illuminating report on a "eating" house on Prospect Hill street, and its license was refused. There was talk of the long held up improvement at Peckham and Russell avenues being made, and action was started to compel the street railway company to better conditions on Franklin street.

The weekly pay rolls were approved as follows: Streets and highways, for December 17, $646; police, for three weeks to December 31, $3,189.45; fire department, December 17, $568.24; December 24, $547.24; December 31 $646.76; city officers, December 20, $279.27; December 27, $279.38; firemen in theatres, December 18, $36.

Monthly pay rolls were approved for: Police, $166.74; Police Relief Association, $353.61; city officers, $2,645.86; Rev. Julius Bloch, $100; Touro Synagogue, $58.34.

Quarterly pay rolls of the fire department, $3,483.77, were also approved.

The monthly pay roll of the public schools, amounting to $11,361.22, was also before the board. The mayor said the board was aware of the fact that, through the neglect of the state to pay money due the city, there were no enough funds in the treasury to the credit of the schools to meet the pay roll and the bills due this month. There was about enough to pay the regular bills, amounting to some $606, and 50 per cent of the pay roll, and that seemed to be the only thing the board could do There is no balance to the school account, the schools spend every cent appropriated, and dependance is put upon the state paying what it owes to meet the bills now due. If by any chance the state should pay, the city treasurer could pay the teachers. The board accordingly voted to authorize the city treasurer to pay the teachers 50 per cent of the amounts due them now, and the balance if the state should pay before he closes his books.

An invitation from Henry G Riley to attend the New Year's eve ball at Masonic hall was accepted.

An application was received from James E Cottrell, Jr., for appointment as one of the takers of the birth census There was no other applicants and the matter was laid over to the meeting Saturday when perhaps the takers of the census will be selected.

Two wagon and five wagon drivers' licenses were granted.

Alderman Hughes was not ready to report on the application of Lou Chip for an eating house license and it went over to Saturday.

The chief of police was ready to report on the "eating" house at 8 Prospect Hill street kept by Lawton and Tierney. It was a spicy report, which seemed to cover the facts of the case and showed that the "eating" house could lie neither an ornament nor a necessity. There were stoves there, but nothing to eat; there were people who might eat, but seemed to think more of something else. It seems that the report was the result of the bondsmen wishing to give up responsibility for the condition of affairs which they found existed. Mr. Hughes moved to revoke the license. Mr. Kirby thought the board should itself ascertain if conditions were as reported. Mr. Leddy said the report was pretty near right. Complaint had been made about conditions there. Mr. Kirby said that, on the report by Mr. Leddy, he was satisfied to act and the board voted to revoke the license.

Alderman Hughes said, on hearing the report of the chief of police, that it was the first real report he had ever heard from him, and now that he had made a good start he hoped he would keep it up.

A deed from J. W. Oxx and others, conveying Peckham avenue to the city, was referred to the city solicitor. The latter gave the board some information on the matter. This deeding of Peckham avenue to the city has hung fire for some years, because of the trouble of joining Peckham and Russell avenues. It is now thought that arrangements are under way which will bring this about, as the owners have taken up the matter in earnest and seem to be on the road to success.

At this stage in the proceedings the board went into executive session for a few minutes, to listen to Mr. Levy. The executive session ended after 26 minutes and it was announced that the claim of the Leonards for damages from the steam roller runaway was the subject of discussion, but that no action had been taken.

Mr. Hughes, who with Mr. Leddy had been a committee on the congestion on Franklin street, said that it seemed that the railroad company did not intend to solve the trouble in the only way it could be relieved, by hiring the right to store cars on Commercial wharf. The committee had looked the matter over carefully and there seemed no prospects of improvement. He suggested that the city solicitor be directed to prepare an ordinance regulating the use of Franklin street for cars and that the board recommend this ordinance to the Council for action. This would prevent the parking of cars on Franklin street. The board so voted.

Mr. Hughes presented resolutions appropriating $1,000 for the hiring and lighting of flouts, hiring of athletic fields, etc., for the army and navy; re-appropriating the balance left in the appropriation for naval base, Narragansett Bay, $1,655.25; and appropriating $350 for the repair of the copper dome on the City Hall. The board voted to recommend the passage of each of these by the Council.

Mr. Kelly reported that the poles and wires have been removed from Morton avenue and things straightened out, and that the hydrant has been placed at Harrison and Carroll avenues.

Mr. Kirby reported that Mr. Wright has built a bungalow on Broadway and there is no sewer within 200 feet of his house. He is about ready to move in. There is no money available to extend the sewer and it seemed that some action should be taken so that a sewer might be put in before the regular work begins next spring. It was suggested that the matter be referred to the street commissioner, with instructions to make an estimate of the cost of the extension and add it to the estimate which he has made for the preliminary appropriation to be made at the first meeting of the Council. This was done.

The mayor said he had hoped to be able to take up the matter of plans for the new police station, but the deeds have not yet passed. It was hoped that Mr. Sheffield would return from Washington so that the deeds would pass and the board could take up the matter of plans Saturday.

There being nothing further the board adjourned to meet Saturday evening.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight and Saturday; rising temperature; moderate variable winds.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Forecast for southern New England—Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer; moderate variable winds.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Forecast for northern New England—Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer; variable winds becoming southerly.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

There have been scattered light snow flurries in portions of New England, eastern Canada and the Rocky Mountain plateau districts during the past 24 hours, and some cloudiness remains this morning in these districts. Elsewhere the weather is fair and there is much clear sky. The high pressure area that was noted over the north central portion of the country Thursday morning has moved southeastward and is central this morning at Richmond, Virginia. The barometer is below normal in central and eastern Canada, the lowest reported being at White River, Ontario, and Chatham, New Brunswick. The southwestern disturbance is moving eastward and is central at Dodge City, Kansas. Temperatures fell during the night to below normal in New England and Middle Atlantic states and eastern Canada. The lowest reading in New England was 2 degrees at Greenville, Maine, and in Canada zero at Quebec The temperature is near the seasonal average in central portions of the country and rather low in plateau districts and the Canadian Northwest, where it is zero at several stations. It is below the freezing point in all sections this morning, except the southern tier of states, the Pacific slope and the Central valleys as far northward as northern Iowa and central Michigan. In New York city at 8 a. m. the temperature was 26, Boston 21, Washington 26, New Orleans 50, St. Louis 34, Chicago 30, St. Paul 22, Kansas City 36, Des Moines 26, Denver 16, San Francisco 44 and Portland, Oregon 32.

AN EXCELLENT MENU.

Mt. Olivet Baptist Church Supper Enjoyed by Large Number of Patrons.

In connection with the fourth anniversary of the pastorate of William H. Reed at the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, the men and women of the church arranged an oyster supper Thursday afternoon, and their efforts were rewarded by a large number of patrons who enjoyed the excellent menu. There were Maryland oysters in various styles, French fried potatoes, cold ham, rolls, ice cream and cake, and all were served in an appetizing manner. Mrs. Florence Wiggington, Mrs. Virginia Collins, Mrs. Mary A. Blockston, Mrs. Laura Johnson, Mrs. Georgia Hasks and Mrs. J. E. Butler were in charge of the various departments of cooking; Miss Texas Ayler and Mrs. Julia Jackson had general oversight of the dining room and Mrs. Alice Weeden of the table decorations. Others who assisted were Mrs. A. A. Martin, Mrs. Florence Jenkins and Messrs. John Jenkins, Henry Carter ad Thomas L. Jenkins.

During the evening Rev. T. J. King of Yonkers, N. Y., gave an interesting lecture on "A New Pastor in a New Field," before a large audience. He was introduced by Rev. Mr. Reed.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News)

The mails to and from the island have commenced to show the effects of the Christmas holiday season. Each of the four mails is now in volume about equal to the amount which has been carried in all four.

Mrs. J. C. Tefft is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. S. Stubbs, at Narragansett Pier.

Mr. Bowen Schade has returned from a visit of two weeks in New York.

There was a decided drop in temperature during the night, the thermometer registering as low as 12 above on the more exposed parts of the island this morning.

Mr. Samuel Smith is having the Bay Shore Hotel, recently purchased by him, put in condition to be opened next summer.

Mr. I. H. Clarke is putting the bins on Ferry wharf in condition for the arrival of a cargo of coal.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. W. Storrs Wells arrived Thursday afternoon for the funeral of Mrs. Raynor.

—Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Martin returned Thursday night from New York.

—Mrs. Cameron McR. Winslow has returned from New York.

—The police continue to find shop doors left open after the owners have gone home.

—Mr William Paine Sheffield has returned from Washington, and now the work of passing deeds for the new police station site may be expedited.

—Mr. George H. Dillon announces that he is a candidate for building inspector and Mr. Daniel J. Coffey is out for the position of plumbing inspector.

—It looks as if Block Island is in the Christmas business. Twenty sacks of parcels-post matter, on the train across this morning must have made the Block Island postoffice a busy place.

—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin M. Mechlenburg (Miss Nina Horgan) returned from Cambridge today, to spend the Christmas holiday season with Mrs. Mechlenburg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Horgan.

—It looks like the end of the trap shooting season, as the catch is growing less. Today the Seaconnet River Oyster Company had only 8 barrels and C. B. Anderson had none, as it was too rough to pull the trap.

—Captain Braley and Sergeant Mayor Dowley are expecting discharge from the hospital in time to be at home with their families for Christmas. It is possible that they may be out before the end of the present week.

—Mrs. Hannah J. Bucklish is receiving a postal card shower and otherwise celebrating her birthday today, at her home on Gould street. Mrs. Bucklish is 90 years, and has her home with Mrs. Betsey Martland, who is in her ninety second year.

—Chief Kirwin's son and Driver Shea of Hose 1 are receiving instructions in the operation of the chief's new car, the former because the chief takes Saturday night at home and needs some way of having the machine brought to him, and the other because the car is kept in the Orew station and it may be desirable to send it out to pick up the chief.

—In another month the second automobile combination should be here and in commission. The contract calls for shipment, not delivery, in 90 working days after signing. The company is taking no chances on delayed freights, and so the travel from the factory to this city will not be out of the builder's time, but allowing for all delays it is calculated that it should be here by the middle of January.

—Officer Coggeshall participated in a runaway mix-up this morning at Washington square. Mr. Sidney Bateman's horse started it, and as he came down Officer Coggeshall diagnosed the case exactly. He was going to let the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's wagon and this would cause a second runaway. The officer was on hand to stop the tea horse, for it came out according to "dope". The Bateman horse was stopped by the collision. No serious damage was done.

—The Tuxedo Pinchole Club held its weekly meeting Thursday evening, many members being present. A pleasant surprise was given to Mr. Frank Scott, it being his birthday, in the form of a birthday cake called the "Toyland Jingle." He received many other gifts and at the conclusion a procession was formed, including a drum squad and fifers. The winners for the evening were Mr. Oswald Clarke and Mrs. Burdick, the consolations being taken by Mrs. William Eohirt and Mr. Waldorf Clarke.

—Rev. and Mrs. William Safford Jones were among the guests at the presentation of a portrait of Dean King at Pembroke Hall, Brown University, Thursday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Jones is a member of the visiting committee of the Women's College. The portrait was presented by Mrs. Ellinson, the former dean, in the name of several friends of Dean King of the college, and accepted by President Faunce, acting for the corporation. President Everett, who is well known in Newport, spoke on the higher education of women. The portrait is by the famous artist, Henson, and is a remarkable likeness of Miss King. A reception in her honor followed the presentation.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF FOR $300.

Decision of the Jury in the Tiverton Damage Suit for Flooding Lands.

One Divorce Granted and Temporary Injunction in Coal Mines Litigation Granted.

At 2:30 Thursday afternoon Judge Brown, in the superior court, resumed the Pendleberry-Tiverton case, witness Morris completing his evidence.

John W. Kenney was the next witness for the town. He is a member of the town council and has had to do with highway work in this location. Witness had seen the water come down Lake street in large volume, after a big storm. The water is standing in the culvert now, and on the adjoining land. After a good deal of questioning both sides disclaimed bringing out that line of evidence, the court said neither side asked for it and it would be stricken out.

This completed the town's evidence.

After a recess Mr. MacLeod argued in behalf of the town, saying the town is willing to pay the full amount of what it has damaged plaintiffs, but it must be shown that there is damage and that the town has caused it. It is denied that there is damage and, on the contrary, it is claimed that what the town has done has been a benefit to the land, which was originally a farm, and was staked off in lots, with proposed streets indicated. These streets were later accepted by the town.

The town is not required to drain private property; it must drain streets. It is not the result of the acts of the town that there is water on the land. Yet, if the jury should think some damages are due, what has been shown? There is no testimony to show that the land ever was suitable for agriculture or for building. They cannot recover for damages to nerves; only for damages to the land. If it was not fit for agriculture or building before the town acted, the jury should find that no damages are due.

Mr. Kerns argued for plaintiffs, congratulating Mr. MacLeod on his presentation of certain matters—and not presenting others. We expect to take care of surface water, but if another collects water in a pool on his land, and drains it on our land, we are entitled to damages. Why did not the town take the jury to see the place, if it is what they claim? The evidence is that that culvert is not and never was large enough to do what was expected of it. Had it been, the land would not be wet. If it was too small that is enough to determine the case. Or if it was not kept cleaned out, that is enough to prove it. This is all there is of this case.

Mr. Kenny may understand his work in the mill, but would any juror pick him out as an expert to tell how large a culvert should be built in any place? This is the sort of men who have been doing this work in Tiverton. He tried to be fair, but his last word was that it is wrong and he is a highway officer, and the town has, by his evidence, admitted it was wrong. He has been in office three years and yet he has not lifted his finger to correct it. It shows what these poor old women were up against. They have stood it for 12 years. Had there been four or five votes in that house the trouble would have been remedied, and for a small sum.

The land is not marketable at any price—a loss of $400 at least. The town has brought no expert to dispute this. It is uncontradicted. This is not counting anything for inconvenience, etc. For three years the case has been in court. And three times these women went to the town council and were promised an investigation, but never was there any relief.

At 4:52 the court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. Friday.

Judge Brown presided this morning and charged the jury in the Pendleberry-Tiverton case. Keeper Remele led out the jury. At 9:53 the court immediately ordered the jury to return and explained that damages between January 1, 1903, and April 10, 1911, only could be considered. At 10:34 the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $300. The jurors were discharged.

Judge Burke and Mr. Sheffield consulted the court as to the hearing in the Barclay Hazard case in Providence. If possible, they will go up January 3; if not, on the tenth; if it is not heard then, it will be heard January 24.

The Bedlow case was continued. Hearing on the next motion day was desired, but the court declined definitely to set a case for hearing on that day.

Judge Mahoney presented the uncontested Tiverton case of Josephine T. Sullivan vs. John H. Sullivan. The marriage was June 13, 1895, in Covington, Ky. Eight years ago he put his family out doors in the cold in the night. Last August he brought home five drunken men at midnight and they tried to enter the house. She went for help and her husband and his brother caught her and beat her and others of the family. Jail sentence was given for kids assault. He has repeatedly threatened her. He came last week and threatened to shoot them. He works in the mill at about $14 a week. There are five children, the oldest being 17. They are with her and he does nothing for them.

Matthew Sheehan, father of petitioner, who lives in the same house, testified that he regularly saw respondent ill treat his wife. He told of the men coming and breaking the windows, and coming again—seven of them—when one of them said he was a sheriff and had the gang to clean the house out. They beat witness "around the face," and were arrested. Respondent has not lived there since. Witness and his wife have supported them.

Ann Sheehan, mother of respondent, testified that "all the time he used to beat her." At the time the windows were broken petitioner was caught and beaten.

Decision for absolute divorce, on grounds of extreme cruelty and neglect to provide, with custody of five minors, and alimony $7 a week, payable each Monday beginning December 22, this to be a lien on respondent's real estate.

Mr. Sheffield then introduced Mr. Eldridge T. Anderson and Mr. Thomas F. Strange of Boston, and Mr. Anderson presented the petition for temporary injunction in the case of Henrietta H. Vassar of Lynn, and others of various parts of the Union, against Jerry A. Downs of Boston and others. This is the latest phase of the Portsmouth coal mine litigation, and after a hearing the temporary injunction was granted.

There was a heavy array of solid-looking men in court for the hearing. Mr. Sheffield and Mr. Harvey were with Messrs. Anderson and Strange of Boston. On the other side were Messrs. Tillinghast and Murdock of Providence.

Complainants say they own the real estate at the Portsmouth coal mines, which is yet under lease to Henry M. Whitney of Boston, under the terms of which all property not fit for use should be stored and all property put there by Whitney should be held as security. This lease was assigned in turn to the different companies working at the mines.

In May, a balance of $80,000 being unpaid, there was a mortgagee's sale and the property was bid in by Downs, who occupied it under the lease. It became known that he intended to sell the machinery, and they wrote him that he had no right to do so. Last week it was learned that a wrecking crew from the Swift contracting company was at work at the mines. The lease required that for 20 years the mines shall be kept pumped out and worked as a mine, all machinery to be kept in working condition.

There are about $4,000 unpaid rent, the taxes which Mr. Whitney agreed to pay are not paid for three years. Downs has abandoned the mines and the water is coming in. It is said that Downs has tried to sell to the wrecking company, which has gone to the mines to take possession. It is asked that Downs be enjoined from "giving notice" and that the removal of machinery be enjoined, first until the conditions of the lease are fulfilled, and then permanently.

James H. Vassar, of Lynn, for 42 years specie clerk of the sub-treasury in Boston, husband of Henrietta H. Vassar, took the stand. He participated in the business in question, and told of the last payment to Mrs. Vassar, being the May payment.

Mr. Strange took the stand and said he asked Mr. Beal, agent of Hayden, Stone & Co., and Downs, why the rent was not paid, and he said a scheme to re-organize was on. There had been a case similar to this, in the superior court of Massachusetts in which Mr. Beal, as attorney for these parties, had submitted to judgment and injunction was issued. Mr. Beal said Hayden, Stone & Co. were going on with the mines and would pay the rent, but a little time should be given them to become familiar with the situation.

Letters to Mrs. Mary L. Hunt of Detroit, one of the complainants, were read, and witness said Mr. Beal told him the Portsmouth Coal Company had been wound up, and asked why the situation was not cleared by trying to collect the rent. In cross-examination witness was positive it was the "Portsmouth Coal Company," not the "Rhode Island Coal Company," which was mentioned.

The other side contended that these articles are personal property and that "all these articles are trade fixtures and may be removed by the tenant at any time during the tenancy" (after the tenancy the fixtures naturally revert to the landlord); and that article 6 of the lease does not limit the right to remove during the tenancy, but specifies procedure after the termination of the lease. The term "machinery" is too indefinite to be used in these proceedings.

Mr. Sheffield read the sixth clause, which requires that all rents much be paid, and all other covenants fully performed, before the property may be removed at the termination of the lease; also, that the lessors shall have an option of purchase.

The court thought it a fair construction to consider that the personal property was to be held as security, and granted the temporary injunction.

The court immediately adjourned to meet according to law.

Then all the congress of solid men gathered and consulted for quite a while, Mr. Corcoran being called in, who said some property had been removed and brought back. It was agreed that the brick buildings might be removed, a line being drawn as to what is on the Vassar estate and what is power, the line on other property. The batteries are to be removed, but the status of the mules is not settled. It was agreed also that a watchman should be kept there; also, that Mr. Corcoran would have authority to determine which of the remaining articles might properly be removed.

The next session of the court will be the motion day of January 3, 1914.

SMITH TO BE BROUGHT BACK HERE.

Deputy Sheriff DeBlois was in Providence Thursday to take charge of Smith and bring him to Newport in case the jury gave a verdict of acquittal. There is still hanging a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, a knife, on which Smith has not been tried, and the plan was to bring him here and arraign him in the district court this morning on this charge. In view of the disagreement this was not done. The prisoner will be brought here by one of the Providence county officials, and turned over to the Newport County jail.

A WOMAN LAWYER.

Mrs. Hyde of the Massachusetts Bar Welcomed by the Court.

Mrs. Hyde, the member of the Massachusetts bar who was in court during the trial of the case of Pendleberry vs. Town of Tiverton, received a cordial welcome from everybody, from the court down, and all expressed a wish to hear her argue the case. Rhode Island has no women lawyers, but they are not uncommon in Massachusetts, and as visiting members of the bar are entitled to practice in Rhode Island courts or some time it has been a custom for the court, during the intermissions of the morning or afternoon sessions, to have light luncheon or cup of tea, and Mrs. Hyde, with all the lawyers in the case, was invited in for this at one of the intermissions. When regret was expressed that she did not argue the case, she politely said she thought the gentlemen were conducting it very well; she would be glad to meet all in Fall River, where there might be an opportunity to hear her.

SENTENCED TO 43 DAYS.

Lieutenant Baron Von Forstner Guilty of Cutting Down a Man.

STRAASBURG, Germany, Dec. 19.—Imprisonment for 43 days was the sentence pronounced by a court-martial today on Lieutenant Baron Von Forstner of the Ninety-ninth Infantry, who was found guilty of cutting down with his sabre a lame shoemaker of Zabern, Alsace, Dec. 2. The formal charge against him was willful assault, and causing great bodily harm by the illegal use of his weapon. The sentence of imprisonment in a penitentiary involves the loss of commission as an officer.

The prisoner argued that he acted in self defense, but several soldiers testified that the shoemaker, whose name is Blanck, was being held by both arms and was unabl to move when Lieutenant Von Forstner sabred him.

Lieutenant Von Forstner entered an appeal against the sentence.

Lieutenant Von Forstner was the officer who brought about the recent troubles between the military and civilian population of Zabern, by making insulting remarks in regard to the Alsatian citizens when he addressed the recruits of his company. When the townspeople became acquainted with the circumstances serious rioting and disorder broke out and lasted for several days, ending in the transfer of the Ninety-ninth Infantry to other parts of Alsace by order of Emperor Wiliam. The incidents caused a government crisis in Germany, which was accompanied by rumors of the resignation of the imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg.

TODAY'S FUNERALS.

John Stacy Brown, Jr., Awarded Harvard Scholarship in Third Group.

John Stacy Brown, Jr., of this city, a graduate of the Rogers High School, has been awarded one of the Harvard scholarships in the third group. Each year Harvard College gives away or loans to students $92,000 in scholarships. Most of this sum is given outright but a certain portion of it is loaned, the time of re-payment being indefinite and a certain portion loaned on a stipulated time of re-payment. The largest single source of aid is afforded by the Price Greenleaf fund, which, in amounts ranging from $50 to $250, gives annually approximately $17,000 to candidates for the degree of A. B. during the freshman year only. There are 265 of these scholarships, in three groups, those in the third group being awarded to students on grounds of special claim.

NO LACK OF PURCHASERS.

Patrons of Campfire Girls Sale Find Unusual Articles for Christmas Gifts.

The Christmas sale of the Campfire Girls at the Civic League House Thursday afternoon attracted a large number of patrons. The affair was conducted by Naiawis campfire, assisted by members of Narragansett campfire, and the girls had collected many articles not usually found in such sales. As these will make desirable Christmas presents, there was no lack of purchasers. The rooms were made especially attractive with Christmas decorations, which were arranaged by Miss Gertrude Carley.

Miss McCarthy had general oversight, while the Misses Helen Schoenzeler, Carrie Chapman and Dorothy Knobelsdorf were in charge of the table where baskets, bags and sweet grass articles were sold; the Misses Edith Nason, Ruth Huntington and Edith Comstock, of the Japanese table; the Misses Charlotte Roll and Gladys Bearsdall of the cake table; the Misses Annie Brightman and Mary Holland, of the flower table, and Misses Ethel Josephson and Mabel Simpson of the novelty table, Mrs. T. A. Lawton and Miss Stoddard served tea.

ON INDIVIDUAL ITEMS.

New Condition for Bidding on Meats and Provisions for Navy Use.

In the recent bidding on meats and produce for the use of the navy at this port for the next three months a condition was that the government would make the awards by items rather than classes, so that there was no chance to put in a low bid on some things and expect to make a profit by high prices on other articles. The bidders were numerous and there was considerable competition. In transmitting the bids to Washington the detailed letter which accompanied them comprised 13 typewritten pages.

The contracts have now been awarded, except in a few cases where the government called for re-advertising. The result of the award on individual items is that rather more firms have received contracts than before, but just what if any saving will be made remains to be seen. The contractors will be allowed to supply Argentine beef in place of American if they choose, and this probably will be done. None of the bidders so stated in their bids, and which beef will be supplied probably depends upon the state of the market from week to week.

PENNY FAMINES.

[London Chronicle.]

The penny famine in England is nothing to the dearth of coppers in South Africa. Pennies there may be there, but one meets very few between Cape Town and Bulawayo, and even those one doesn't know what to do with, for the "tickey" (our almost obsolete threepenny bit) is the lowest coin used. Yet on the tram cars in Cape Town there are three-ha'penny fares. Instead of change from the conductor you receive a voucher entitling you to another three-ha'penny tram ride when you want one. Would the same practice be feasible and legal in penniless London?

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Patrolman John Shea is on his annual 10-day vacation.

—Miss Lola Phinney has returned from a visit to Mrs. William Grosvenor in Providence.

—Mrs. J. Mitchell Clark has returned to New York after a visit to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Eugene Sturtevant.

—Miss Mary Peabody underwent a fourth operation on her hand at the Newport Hospital this morning.

—Several parties from this city went to Little Compton gunning Wednesday and secured a number of rabbits.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Van Beuren will arrive December 26 at "Sunnyfields Farm," to remain until after New Year's.

—This evening there will be a meeting of the social committee at the Young Men's Christian Association, to discuss the Christmas and New Year's programs.

—The Burroughs house may be on its new site today. It was obliged to lose a part of its jet Thursday to swing into Sherman street and not injure other properties but the worst is over.

—Colonel Millard F. Harmon, coast artillery corps, who was in command at Fort Adams early in the year, has been ordered to the Walter Reed General Hospital at Washington, for treatment.

—The Aquidneck Cottage Industries employes, to the number of 40, were entertained at dinner Thursday evening in Recreation hall by a member of the administration. It was the second annual pre-Christmas dinner.

—Mr. Edmund Eugene Eastman of the New York Morning Telegraph and formerly of the Providence Journal, who years ago did some special work in and about Newport, died suddenly Wednesday night. During the war with Spain he was the Journal's correspondent with the First Rhode Island volunteer regiment and as such was well known to the Newporters who went out with that command.

—Camp Thomas has a number of applications for membership from men now located at the Training Station who will be mustered in early next year. Two were mustered in Thursday at the Station for convenience, as they were unable to leave their duties to attend the evening meeting. The camp held its monthly whist in the evening, when there was the usual attendance of women. The next meeting will be the annual visit of the department commander and installation of officers.

LABOR MEN SEEKING FAVOR.

Leaders Insist on Passage of Exemption Bill by Congress This Session.

Sham Battles in the House—Nation-Wide Prohibition Possible, But Improbable.

[Furnished by Hornblower & Weeks, —23 Bellevue Ave.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Many Congressmen are worried over the insistence of labor leaders that the legislation which was put in the sundry civil appropriation bill last spring shall be made permanent law this session. That was a provision which prohibited the use of money appropriated for the Department of Justice being used to prosecute labor organizations for violations of the anti-trust law. The sundry civil bill was vetoed by President Taft on account of that provision, but was approved by President Wilson.

Now, the labor men are insisting that Congress shall "make good" and make the provision, which applied only to a comparatively small amount of money, a permanent law so that it shall apply to all money hereafter to be expended. And many Congressmen are rather upset because they do not care to go that far. They felt that enough was done when the provision was inserted in the appropriation bill, and, besides, President Wilson would no doubt veto it, and there would be a test vote about passing it over his veto. Altogether the subject is one full of perplexities.

About the most useless feature of Congressional discussion that we have seen is the bickering in the Senate over the matter of roll calls and quorums and attendance. These are not sham battles, however. Those take place in the House.

For a screaming farce in the way of a sham battle one should select a contest between Majority Leader Underwood and Minority Leader Mann. These two distinguished statesmen fuss at each other, ruffle up their feathers, scold, "slap each other's wrist," so to speak and yet all the time everybody knows it is simply a sham battle, nothing but an effort to show that there are two political parties in the House.

"Last night," began Senator Norris, "the Democratic leader"—and then he was interrupted by Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who asked:

"I want to know to which of the leaders the Senator refers; there are so many leaders over here."

Norris meant Senator Kern, but the remark of Ashurst describes the situation on the Democratic side. There are many leaders in that party in the Senate.

If many impossible things had not happened in the last 20 years I would say that there is no earthly show for a nation-wide prohibition amendment to the constitution passing, but anything in the way of a reform might pass Congress. The fact that it is seriously presented, seriously received and advocated by so many men in Congress shows that the prohibition sentiment is growing stronger in the national legislature.

Because a proposed rule is pending in the Senate directing the Vice President to preserve order in the galleries and on the floor Mr. Marshall felt called upon to reprove the galleries for applauding earnest prohibition speeches by Senators Sheppard of Texas and Owen of Oklahoma. But the reproof was sugar coated, as "mild as any sucking dove," and so apologetic in tone that the people in the galleries were not in the least offended or alarmed. Other presiding officers on such occasions sternly threaten to "clear the galleries," although such an order is never enforced.

A measure which was put through the Senate without much difficulty is meeting with considerable opposition while pending in the House. The La Follette seamen's bill seems to give many people a great deal of concern, and strong protests are made against it. The measure is one which the seamen's union has been contending for about 19 years and has always been staved off one way or another. This time it was coupled with a proposition for greater safety at sea, and that gave it additional strength. The opponents have no hope of defeating the bill in the House.

Jerry Donovan of Connecticut does not make long speeches, but he gets his name in the Record quite frequently. He is not afraid to break in upon Underwood, Fitzgerald, Mann, Murdock or any of the other leaders of the House. If he takes the notion. Once in awhile he scores when he makes a point of order, and the Speaker sustains him, but sometimes he is floored by the same authority. But that makes no difference. Jerry bobs up serenely in a day or two.

HOLD YOUR TEMPER IN 1914.

[Woman's Home Companion.]

"I will govern my temper and my tongue" is, I think, a resolution which all of us ought to make for this new year and all the new years to come. It is one that all can keep if they try and I think it is the best one for everybody, because I believe ill temper is the cause of more unhappiness, not only in the home but in the world at large, than any other evil. Only think what a heavenly place this world would be if all of us were sweet tempered."

Shipping Men Interested in News That Atlantic Rate War is Imminent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—News from London that an Atlantic rate war is imminent was read with interest by shipping men today. While recent advices have failed to carry any intimation as to the progress of the negotiations to bring about a renewal of the Atlantic shipping pool, it was hoped here that the present agreement, which expires December 31, would be extended for another year, and the work of re-constructing the pool would be satisfactorily accomplished.

The beginning of the unrest in the shipping pool extends back to October 1, when the Hamburg-American line denounced the agreement as being partial to the North German Lloyd. A rate war would involve all the British and Continental lines.

CUBAN WOMEN ORGANIZING.

Raise Banner of Suffrage With Idea of Peaceful Intentions.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Cuban women want the vote and are organizing according to a letter received by Mrs Raymond Brown, president of the New York State Suffrage Association, who is asked to lend her name to the movement by becoming honorary president. "We have raised the banner of suffrage here with the name Partido Popular Feminista, with the idea of equality in the relation of the sexes and with peaceful intentions and legal procedure," the missive recites. The letter is dated Havana and is signed "Emilia Perez Moossey."

Chicago's First Municipal Christmas Tree Taken to Grant Park.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Squadrons of mounted police and 12 uniformed buglers of the First Illinois cavalry today headed a procession in which Chicago's first municipal Christmas tree was transported on the largest truck in the city to Grant Park, on the city's water front. Six large black horses drew the tree, which will be placed in position by tonight. Mayor Harrison will push a button which will illuminate the tree on Christmas eve, while five Grand Opera stars sing from the balcony of the Art Institute, facing the lake.

A FINANCIAL WINNER.

ents goal line in but one game, when the high school with a badly crippled line-up was defeated by the Rhode Island State College second team, 19-0. The total points piled up by Rogers numbered 118, against 34 by opponents.

In the first game of the season Rogers presented five players who had never been in a regular football game, but these men later proved to be stars. This first game was played against the heavy Training Station team, and Rogers surprised its followers by scoring a 7-0 victory. The Rogers trick plays and speed conquered the navy team, Clark scoring the touchdown and kicking the goal.

The combination of the B. M. C. Durfee and Technical High school teams called the "Fall River" High was next played in Fall River. As the former Durfee team is Rogers bitterest enemy, Rogers tried its best to win, but after a struggle in which neither side had any decided advantage Fall River won by the closest of margins, 7-6, Rogers failing to kick the goal which would have staved off defeat.

Taunton High, which later won the championship of southeastern Massachusetts, fell victims before Rogers, 6-0. The visiting team presented a strong line-up, but the speed of the Rogers back field bewildered them. Rogers should have won by a larger margin, as it had many opportunities to score.

An All-Star team composed of strong ex-Rogers players and others was next secured to meet the high school, and as usual the interest and rivalry were keen. Great things were expected of the picked team, but Rogers had hardly any difficulty in winning, 7-0. The Stars' goal line was crossed again, but the touchdown was disallowed. Each touchdown in the last three games was made by Jemail, while Clark kicked the goal in the All-Star game.

Rogers went to Taunton to play a return game with the high school team of that city, and Taunton with a much better line-up was forced to go the limit to lie Rogers, 6-6. Clark made the touchdown for Rogers, but failed to kick the goal, while Taunton's touchdown came as a result of a fumble.

The one-touchdown hoodoo was broken in the next game, the second against the Training Station, when the sailors went down to defeat again, 21-0. The Rogers attack was shown in its full power in this game, the navy team being smothered under a succession of forward passes which scored all three touchdowns.

Immediately after the Training Station game Rogers began to practice in earnest for the return engagement with "Fall River" High. The latter team came to Newport equally determined to score a victory, but the long pent-up vim of the Rogers team was not to be denied, and it won a bitterly fought game, 14-0, all the points being scored in the last quarter.

The victory against Fall River had proved costly, as Sullivan and Arnold, two of the star players, were unable to play, while others on the team received injuries of a more or less serious nature. Nevertheless, the team was forced to play against the fast Rhode Island second team three days later, and the wonder is that Rogers held the college team to a 19-0 score after the winners had scored 13 points in the first quarter.

Cloyne School proved the easiest opponents of the year, and Rogers won by the largest margin piled up by the locals in several years, Cloyne being on the short end of a 38-0 score.

Interest in the Alumni game was the keenest shown in years. The "grads" were determined to defeat Rogers, and had hundreds of supporters who encouraged them in the week of strenuous practice before the game. The Alumni secured the best players they could, and on the day of the game they looked like sure winners, but they did not reckon on the grit of the light Rogers team. Although scored on at home for the first time in the season, and considerably weakened by the loss of men as the game went along, the school boys nevertheless scored an overwhelming 13-2 victory in the presence of 1,500 spectators.

The season's record in detail is as follows:

Rogers 7,	Training Station 0.
Rogers 6,	"Fall River" High 7
Rogers 6,	Taunton High 0
Rogers 7,	All Stars 0.
Rogers 6,	Taunton High 6
Rogers 21,	Training Station 0.
Rogers 14,	"Fall River" High 0
Rogers 0,	R. I. State 2d 19
Rogers 38,	Cloyne School 0
Rogers 13,	Alumni 2
Total 118	94

Captain Jemail led in the scoring, with eight touchdowns for a total of 48 points. Clark was next with 21 points, while the remainder was divided among eight other players, the diminutive "Duke" Edward proving the best goal kicker. The summary of points follows:

Player	Touchdowns	Goals	Total points
Jemail	8		48
Clark	3	3	21
Baker	2		12
Diggles	1	1	7
Pinto	1		6
Gamache	1		6
Dennison	1		6
Wilks	1		6
Edward		4	4
Total			118

Captain Emil Jemail was one of the few veterans on the team, and was again seen at quarterback. His judgment in this position was good, as can be shown by the season's record, while his line plunging was of the kind which always produced results. He proved able to make touchdowns in an emergency, and was the team's high scorer.

Arnold was the most spectacular of the back field men. His speed rivalled that of the fastest on the team, and although he did not break into the scoring column much it was his work which many times placed the ball in an easy position for counting.

Clark's line plunging was of the same nature he displayed to such good advantage last season. He was injured in the important games, but his work during the season proved invaluable. On the defense he was one of the best tacklers.

Gamache was unquestionably the fastest man on the team. His running back of punts and line plunges displayed his speed to good advantage. Once past the scrimmage line he was the hardest of men to tackle, and he played a star game against the Alumni.

Wilks, the other member of the back field, always followed the ball closely. He was an excellent man for interference, a steady line plunger, and an earnest player. That he was always "on the job" can be best described by the number of fumbles he recovered and forward passes he intercepted.

In Baker Rogers had the best end the school has produced in years. Although this was his first year in the squad, he easily won his position, and proved a terror to all runners who tried to circle his end. He was a sure tackler, while his handling of forward passes was good. In opening holes for the backs, a style of play seldom noticed, he proved equally proficient.

Captain-elect Diggles was the player who tore off the most spectacular runs of the season. When he broke away on a trick play, he would usually go for many yards. For instance, he went 70 yards on a forward pass against the Training Station, 60 yards on an end run against Cloyne, 45 yards on a fake forward pass against Rhode Island State second, and scored a touchdown against the All-Stars after running back a punt 50 yards.

Pinto was the lightest man on the team, but proved a strong defensive player. His handling of forward passes set the Fall River team in a panic, but his services to the team were lost after the Rhode Island game, in which he was severely injured.

Marshall in his first season of football was a tower of strength on the line. He was the only one of the players to play in every minute of every game, and it was his defensive work which smothered many of the opponents' plays. Starting the season as a raw recruit, he finished it as a star.

Sullivan's playing did not deteriorate any from his excellent work in years before. When in the game he hailed his opponents for many losses and with Marshall made a pair of tackles hard to excel. His injuries kept him out of the Alumni game.

Martin was also a new man on the team, and with the experience gained this year should prove an excellent player for next season's squad. His work at guard was steady, his playing hard and his tackling sure.

Blaine was a persistent player, who always held his position in a steady manner.

Connolly played the guard position in the early games, and was a tireless player who had few weaknesses.

The centre on the Rogers team must be a very good man. The direct pass used by Rogers makes him the one on whom the successful completion of all plays must hinge, while his defensive work must be analytic and steady. Kelley filled all these requirements, and makes a centre Rogers could hardly afford to lose.

"Duke" Edward was with the team another year, being used mostly for his proficiency at kicking goals.

Lee was the best kicker on the squad and his long punts carried the team out of danger many times. His experience on the line helped the others considerably.

Dennison as substitute end displayed talent which will win him a position on next year's team. He is very fast and a good tackler.

Lawton and Peckham were able players in their positions.

The statistics of the players follow:

THE NATIONAL LIBRARY.

[Washington Star.]

The rapid growth of the Library of Congress during the past year indicates that it soon will outdistance its two rivals, the British Museum and the National Library of France, and become the "biggest" library in the world. It long ago became the most valuable, since its treasures are so much more available than those of the two great European libraries. To either of them it requires from four hours to four days to get a certain book on application. In the Library of Congress one is privileged to "kick" if the desired book be not produced in 15 minutes.

The library, so magnificently housed at Washington, now contains 2,128,255 books and pamphlets, 135,233 maps and charts, 630,799 volumes and pieces of music and 360,494 art prints and engravings. The manuscripts are not numbered, perhaps because they are numberless. The book accessions of the year total 115,862 volumes, more than ever added in any one year preceding except in 1909 when a large Russian collection was added, and in 1912 when several large private libraries were donated.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

TENDERING OUR best wishes to every reader, we are pleased to invite your attention to our Holiday Stock for 1913—A REVELATION IN PLEASING AND APPROPRIATE GIFTS. We are prepared to show you in all departments worth and quality for the price, variety and assortment in goods, and novelty and originality in new designs. The time of every Holiday Shopper will indeed be well spent in looking through our bright, fresh selection of up-to-date gifts. Timely hints and valuable suggestions will be made to you by the goods themselves; the fitness and reliability of many articles will recommend them as most appropriate and satisfactory for those you wish to remember. At the present moment it is probable that you have a list of people in mind who should receive gifts, from you, and the anxious question of the hour is WHAT to get them.

Come and see our varied line of really desirable gifts, and the problem will immediately be changed to the simpler question of WHICH to get them. Christmas buying, so hard and distasteful when one does not know what to get, immediately becomes easy and delightful when one has merely to decide which will be the most satisfactory among a number of really attractive and desirable articles; with this fact in mind, we earnestly invite you to come in and let us make your Christmas purchasing a real pleasure. We acknowledge a more than common pride in our Holiday display this season, caused by the excellence of the goods represented, and the variety and range afforded for perfect satisfaction in the selection of anything from an inexpensive little remembrance to a solid and substantial gift. Hoping we may have the pleasure of welcoming you at our store and wishing you the compliments of the season, we remain,

Respectfully Yours,
R. A. McWHIRR CO.

Don't Take It Easy

THERE are lots of merchants who are prone to take things easy when they should be up and doing. It is not because they are lazy or because they shirk meeting an issue, but rather by reason of being uncertain just how to make a beginning.

This uncertainty is making many a merchant overlook the trade possibilities which the parcel post now enables him to develop. He hesitates, because he doesn't know how, about taking advantage of the low cost of delivering goods within his zone, which enables him to compete with even the largest mail order houses not in his immediate vicinity. He fails to realize that his field for trade is vastly broadened and that he can ship and deliver goods far more quickly to consumers within his district than any one else.

To take advantage of these features of the parcel post he must plan out an effective advertising campaign (it will pay him now where it wouldn't in times past) and organize an efficient shipping and correspondence department. The results will not be long in coming.

EACH ASKED TO GIVE STAND.

Maine State Grange Endorses Woman Suffrage.

BANGOR, Maine, Dec. 18.—Woman suffrage was endorsed by the Maine State Grange at the closing session of its fortieth annual convention in this city today, and in addition to unanimously adopting a resolution requesting the next legislature to vote to submit the question to the people, an amendment was passed requiring the executive committee to request each nominee for the next legislature to state his position on the question, and that his stand be given publicity within and without the Grange.

"Suppose a candidate refuses to state his position, what then?" asked F. S. Adams of Bowdoinham.

"Publish the fact," said N. L. Heath of Orland, who introduced the amendment.

Much of the morning session was taken up with the installation of officers elected Wednesday, and taking action on committee reports.

The afternoon's session was opened with a memorial service, only one obituary being read, that of John M. Jackson, late of Lewiston, the first secretary of the State Grange and one of its organizers. He was a veteran of the Civil war.

ARMSTRONG AS ORGANIZER.

Nickalls Coach of Yale Crew to be Assisted by Giannini.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 18.—Official announcement was made today at Yale of the policy to be followed by the recently selected triumvirate of crew coaches. Richard Armstrong, '95, who was appointed as resident graduate in charge of rowing, will act largely as an organizer or diplomat. His position will be graduate manager rather than active coach. The actual coaching will be done by Guy Nickalls, the English coach, assisted by C. F. Giannini of New York."

In this connection it is explained that Nickalls, with Giannini, believes in fitting the stroke to the material in hand rather than in attempting to teach something impossible, and is not, therefore "prejudiced in favor of the English stroke." The belief is expressed that the combination will prove vastly superior to any single coach, as it will combine "the advantages of hyper-professional experience with graduate control."

FLUID STOOD REQUIRED TESTS.

Indianapolis People Using Manufactured Milk Unknowingly.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 18.—When the inspectors for the city health board here found a large number of bottles of milk yesterday in which the cream settled on the bottom of bottle, instead of rising to the top, it uncovered the fact that for a month or longer many Indianapolis people unknowingly have been using a manufactured milk, which was being sold for the real product. The milk is made by mixing a powder with water and adding enough cream to give the mixture the proper amount of butter fat. This fluid stands all the tests required of real milk.

During the street car and teamsters' strike here the city health board made arrangements to have milk delivered, and also to secure milk for babies and invalids. The plans were unnecessary, because the milk supply in Indianapolis apparently did not diminish, although the usual shipments of milk into the city from the country on the interurban lines was practically stopped. In view of this, the health board sent out inspectors and many samples of milk were analyzed. The samples all were up to required standards.

The discovery of the manufactured milk was made when one company produced too much butter fat in its compound. This caused the cream to settle to the bottom of the milk.

The board ordered that commencing Friday all manufactured milk must be so labelled.

RIGGERT OF ST. LOUIS LEADS.

Long-Distance Hitting Feature of American Association Batting.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Long-distance hitting was a feature of batting in the American Association during the 1913 season, according to the official averages issued by President Chivington here today. Premier honors among the sluggers went to Riggert of St. Paul, who made a total base count of 280, leading the league in home runs with an even dozen and making 23 triples, also a year's record. Riggert's individual prowess with the bat was a factor in giving St. Paul the leadership, including hitting as well in total bases.

Chappelle of Milwaukee (later with the Chicago Americans) was the virtual leader of the hitters, with an average of .349 for 85 games. Reilly of Indianapolis was next, with .337 for 155 games, and ranked second in stolen bases, with 47, the top place going to Krehoff of Louisville, with 48.

NO GERMAN EXHIBIT.

Movement in Favor of Participating in Panama Exposition Collapses.

BERLIN, Dec. 18.—The collapse of the German parliamentary movement in favor of official participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco was followed today by the dissolution of the committee which has been formed to organize a great non-official exhibit. The bureau of information for those desiring to exhibit is to continue in existence, but otherwise the scheme for a collective German exhibit is dead.

ESTATE VALUED AT $15,000,000.

Miss Ward of Chicago to Receive Major Portion of Her Father's Property.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Miss Marjorie Ward, aged 25, is expected to receive the major portion of the estate of her father, the late A. Montgomery Ward. The estate is said to be valued at $15,000,000. Mr. Ward's widow and daughter are the only near relatives.

MENDERS' WORK TO BE TESTED.

Historic Flags at West Point Museum in Need of Repair.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Historic battle flags of the United States in the museum at West Point Military Academy are sadly in need of repair, and the civil service commission is endeavoring to find an expert needlewoman to mend them. These ancient colors are very valuable. Most of them pertain to the revolutionary, Mexican and Civil wars and were carried by the troops engaged in those conflicts.

The work of repairing these flags will be very difficult, because in most cases the material has become so brittle that they would almost fall to pieces if handled roughly. The older ones are especially fragile, and in the opinion of the commission it will require the most expert workmanship to put them into condition to permit their being exhibited. An open competitive examination will be held to obtain the service of the right person for the task.

BELGIAN HARES OR RABBITS.

[Farm and Fireside.]

Belgian hares are domesticated rabbits (or hares). They have domestic habits and do not require holes in the ground in which to live, but clean, dry hutches in some shed or outbuilding. They should not be allowed to run together in one pen, as such careless methods of breeding will ruin any animal.

In Massachusetts the best breeders never allow their hares to run out of doors; the danger from dogs is too great. Then, too, the hares are more easily handled in hutches.

My hares are fed twice a day, on oats, hay and most any kind of roots, and, as I am obliged to buy it all, I know just how much it costs to feed them. I assure you it would take ten times 15 hares one year to eat as much as a cow would eat in six months. They do not eat the boards in their hutches, because their rations are balanced, and they are contented and happy.

I have young hares three months old that weigh four and one-half pounds at a total cost of 4 cents a pound, but I do not get a chance to eat them, as they are in demand as breeders.

The necessity of procuring meat without a prohibitive price has turned the public to the Belgian hare.

Real Cleanliness

You will like the sensation of real cleanliness and refreshment that follows the use of

Pebeco
Tooth Paste

The refreshed feeling that Pebeco leaves is the indication of a big fact in modern dentistry. It means that Pebeco has promoted a normal flow of natural alkaline saliva. And this has neutralized "acid-mouth," which authorities say most of us have and which is almost the sole cause of tooth decay.

If the germs can't penetrate the enamel, they can't decay a tooth. Since Pebeco saves the enamel from "acid-mouth," it helps save the teeth from decay-germs.

Pebeco is the complete dentifrice. Its all-round efficiency is shown in the way it cleans, whitens and polishes the teeth and overcomes unwholesome breath. Sold everywhere.

PRESIDENT YUAN SHI KAI APPROVES PROPOSITION.

Definite Termination of Chinese Parliament Suggested.

No Important Law Enacted During the Seven Months of Existence.

PEKIN, Dec. 19.—A mandate issued by President Yuan Shi Kai today expresses full approval of a proposition purporting to emanate from General Li Yuen Heng, vice president of the Chinese republic, and the military and civil governors of all the Chinese provinces, suggesting the definite termination of the Chinese parliament, which met for the first time April 8 this year but was never afterward able to bring together a quorum of its members. The round robin advising the president to adopt this course says in part:

"The Chinese parliament enacted no important law in the seven months of its existence and will not do so if it be permitted to continue for a hundred years. Vice President Li Yuen Hong and other prominent citizens of the republic cannot continue to remain silent while the country goes to destruction.

"The administrative council now convened in Pekin is similar to the convention formed by the 13 states which assisted George Washington in the revision of the American constitution. We and the whole of the Chinese people disapprove of the conduct of the bad parliamentary members. Foreigners likewise disapprove of it. Therefore the president of the republic need not hesitate."

President Yuan Shi Kai has submitted the question to the administrative council, which he formed November 11. This council consists of 71 members, comprising cabinet officers and others appointed by the president and the provincial governors, and holds its meetings within the palace where Vice President Li Yuen Heng now resides with President Yuan Shi Kai.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA BURIED.

Funeral Service at St. Peter's Church, Rome, Largely Attended.

ROME, Dec. 19.—Impressive ceremonial accompanied the funeral service today for the late Cardinal Mariano Rampolla, who died December 16. The coffin bearing the dead Cardinal's insignia was transported in the midst of a procession from the little palace where the prelate died to St. Peter's where had already gathered the members of the Sacred College, the diplomatic corps, the Papal court, the Roman aristocracy, and the Knights of Malta, besides a large number of clergy and laymen of all nationalities.

A requiem mass was celebrated by Monsignor Pietro Jorio, vicar of St. Peter's, and then Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli imparted absolution. The body was afterward conveyed to the cemetery in the chapel of the Vatican chapter and later buried in the church of St. Cecilia, of which Cardinal Rampolla was the protector and which he had caused to be magnificently restored.

URGES FURTHER ACTION BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Advises More Power Over Construction and Operation.

Commerce Commission Would Supervise Securities and Capitalization.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Emphasizing the necessity for further action by the federal government to provide greater safety for travelers and employees on the American railroads, the Interstate Commerce Commission, in its annual report, submitted to Congress today makes vigorous recommendations for additional powers over the physical construction and operation of the roads. The commission also recommends that it be given authority to supervise the issue of railroad securities and some measure of control over the capitalization.

Conditions disclosed by the commission's investigation of railroad accidents during the year present a situation, which the commission believes, ought to be the subject of immediate legislation. Seventy-six accidents investigated comprised 51 collisions and 25 derailments, and caused the death of 283 and the injury of 1,880 persons.

Among the important recommendations for new legislation are the following:

That one period be fixed for the beginning of all actions relating to transportations charges, and that that period be within three years from the completion of the service as to which damages are claimed.

That a carrier which fails to demand payment of charges for any transportation charges within a period of 90 days shall be deemed guilty of giving a rebate to the shipper.

That all suits brought to enforce or set aside orders of the commission be directly under the supervision of the commission, instead of, as now, under the direction of the Department of Justice, and that the commission be charged primarily with the duty of presenting such cases in court subject to the right of the Department of Justice or private individuals to intervene to protect public or private interests.

That the commission be authorized to make orders after investigation, respecting the construction and maintenance of the physical properties of railroads engaged in interstate commerce and rules and regulations pertaining to the use and operation of such properties.

That the commission be given control and supervision over railway capitalization.

That, further to minimize the danger of accidents, the commission be empowered "to require the use of block signal systems and to require the adoption and use of steel or steel underframe cars in passenger service."

That explicit authority be given the commission to examine all books and papers of common carriers subject to the law.

That the commission be relieved of all duties under the parcel post law, "or that such duties and the standards to be applied be more clearly stated."

The report gives some consideration to the law providing for physical valuation of railways. Up to the present time it has not been possible to do more than prepare an outline of the plans for the great task of valuing American railroad property.

The report shows that the work of the commission increased tremendously in volume. Scores of violations of the law by both carriers and shippers were investigated. In this connection the report says that "the false billing of freight by shippers continues." It is pointed out that serious abuses of transit privileges by both carriers and shippers constitute a continuing evil, remedy for which is being worked out by the commission. Failure on the part of carriers to collect from shippers certain demurrage charges was made the subject of many investigations, because this is regarded by the commission as one of the most insidious forms of rebating. Stress also is laid upon violations of the anti-pass law, but the report indicates that these are becoming less and less frequent.

M'LOUGHLIN AT THE HEAD.

Ranking of Leading Men and Women Tennis Players to be Determined.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The ranking of the leading men and women tennis players in the United States will be determined tonight at the meeting here of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The task of tabulating the players according to their playing ability has been in the hands of the ranking committee, consisting of George Adee, chairman, Charles M. Bull, Jr., and Miles C. Charlock.

While no information has been allowed to escape as to the position of the first 10 players on the roll of honor, it is generally understood that Maurice E. McLoughlin of California, the national champion, will head the list, with R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia, second. William J. Clothier, another Philadelphia racquet wielder and a former champion, is conceded third place, and William M. Johnston, the brilliant Pacific coast school boy, will probably be placed in the order named.

The rating of about 25 of the best women players will be a novel feature of this year's work. This scheme has been talked over for a long time.

WILSON MEETS THE CABINET.

President at His Office for the First Time in Over a Week.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Wilson came to his office today for the first time since he was taken ill more than a week ago. He told friends that he felt practically as well as ever and worked on a mass of accumulated correspondence after which he met the cabinet.

The President has been thinking for some weeks about the personnel of the federal reserve board created by the currency bill, and, while he has not fixed on any individuals, he is trying to get the biggest possible man for the place regardless of political affiliations. Mr Wilson indicated today that he would give the subject his most careful attention for the next few weeks.

LONDON PRESS COMMENT.

Regret Cabinet's Decision Not to Erect Pavilion at Panama Exposition.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Regret at last night's decision of the cabinet not to provide for the erection of an official pavilion for the display of British goods at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915 is expressed by the London newspapers today.

The Unionist Evening Standard says: "The question of expense should not have stood in the way of assisting in the celebration of the completion of a great commercial enterprise by a friendly power.

The Westminster Gazette says: "We should be sorry were the United States to think that the attitude of Great Britain is significant of more than the simple fact that manufacturers have not been attracted by the proposition."

The committee which has been urging British participation in the exposition probably will organize a parliamentary committee to place the case before the House of Commons.

BRINGS $307 A SQUARE FOOT.

New Record Price for New York City Land in Recent Transaction.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—A new record price for New York city land is established in a transaction just recorded for a plot 73.4 by 100, located at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street. The price was $2,250,000, which is equivalent to $307 a square foot. Statisticians figured that if this record value ruled throughout Manhattan Island, its 21.9 square miles of area would be worth the stupendous sum of $187,534,846,720. This exceeds by more than $80,000,000 the total wealth of the United States. The wealth of Great Britain, France and Russia, with an aggregate of $185,000,000,000, would just about buy the island.

BIRD COLER'S OPINION.

Race Will Die Out in 150 years if Eugenics is Taught in Schools.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—"If the policy of teaching eugenics to children in the public schools is persisted in the race will die out in 150 years," said Bird S. Coler, former comptroler of New York city, in an address last night before the Industrial Club of Chicago on "Patriotism and philanthropy."

"What are you going to do about the children whose minds are filled with the false science of a bankrupt materialism?" asked the speaker. "What of the foulness that fills our theatres and impels those incomprehensible products of a sick sentimentalism, the sex hygienists, to put matter in the hands of children which the Government bans from the mails?"

Mr. Coler said he based his assertion regarding a dead race in 150 years upon birth rate statistics of a college for women where eugenics and sex hygiene have been taught for many years.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19, Wall Street.—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 70, Anaconda 34⅛, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 93, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 86⅝, Canadian Pacific 214⅛, Central Leather 26, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 93⅝, Erie 27⅛, General Electric 136, New York Central 91⅝, Pennsylvania 107, Reading 162⅛, Southern Pacific 86⅛, Union Pacific 152⅛, United States Steel 56½.

10:45—Evidences of underlying strength in the market during the last two days gave traders more confidence, and they bid up stocks generally at the opening today. Advances in a number of American issues in London played a part in promoting the movement, as did an unofficial report from Washington that the Interstate Commerce Commission was disposed to grant the petition of eastern roads for an increase in freight rates. Canadian Pacific, which rose 2⅝, scored the largest gain. Advances of a point or more were made by New Haven, Reading, Erie first preferred, Pennsylvania, American Telephone, Steel, and Woolworth.

Noon—A stronger tone prevailed throughout the morning session. Bullish operations were conducted with more confidence and an improvement in sentiment was apparent. The rise in seasoned dividend-paying stocks was in response to a demand insistent enough to suggest increased outside buying, although covering of short commitments was a large factor. Advices respecting monetary conditions abroad were more favorable and the easier tone of today's accommodations in the home market assisted operations on the long side. Canadian Pacific, which was exceptionally weak yesterday, led the rise, and a large number of representative shares advanced in striking fashion. The volume of business contracted at the higher quotations, traders reducing their operations after a partial run in of the shorts had been accomplished. Bonds were firm. Call money firm, at 3½ per cent. Mercantile paper 5⅝ @ 6. Exchanges, $273,440,463; balances $14,537,354.

MONSOONS STILL FIRST.

Whirlwinds Lose Chance to Advance and Cyclones go to Last Place.

Hurricanes and Tornadoes Win Bowling Matches; Also the Basket Ball Games.

Although the Whirlwinds had two chances to overtake the leading Monsoon team in the Recreation League at the Young Men's Christian Association Thursday evening, they were unequal to the emergency, and as a result of being defeated twice still remain 1½ points behind. The only change in the standing took place when the Cyclones were sent to the last position.

The present standing of the teams finds the Monsoons first with 35 points, the Whirlwinds second with 33½, the Tornadoes next with 27½, the Hurricanes fourth with 21, while the Cyclones are in last place for the first time, with 15 points. The Cyclones had the luck breaking against them, losing their bowling match by five pins and their basket ball game by four points.

In the first bowling match of the evening, between the Hurricanes and the Cyclones, the latter lost by a score of 349-389, with the bowling of Mathewson, who got up a new high-string record in the league, the feature. The individual scores follow: Hurricanes—Arnold 91, G. Thompson 73, A. Eddy 79, W. Thompson 71, C. Eddy 80, total 394. Cyclones—Jacobs 79, Holmes 79, Stokes 75, Thomas 58, Mathewson 98, total 389.

The Tornadoes won over the Whirlwinds by a score of 379-351, the individual scores being: Tornadoes—Carr 83, Nolan 78, Buchanan 72, Leonard 67, Babcock 79, total 379. Whirlwinds—Oxx 69, Hazelgrove 71, Flagg 61, Ottlidge 76, Robson 74, total 351.

The Cyclones lost a close game of basket ball to the Hurricanes, 24-20. It was any team's game up to the final whistle, but try as hard as they might the Cyclones could not quite overcome the Hurricanes' lead. Arnold's work at forward won the game for his team, as he tallied 13 of the 24 points, besides playing a speedy floor game. O'Hearn and MacLeod also played good games for the winners, while Stokes, Holmes and Jacobs excelled for the Cyclones. The line-up and summary:

Hurricanes.	Cyclones.
Arnold, r. f.	l. g., Mathewson
O'Hearn, l. f.	r. g., Thomas
MacLeod, c.	c., Stokes
C. Eddy, r. g.	l. f., N Holmes
A Eddy l. g.	r. f., Jacobs

Score—Hurricanes 24, Cyclones 20. Goals from floor—Arnold 6, O'Hearn 3, MacLeod 2, Jacobs 3, N. Holmes 3, Stokes 3. Goals from the foul line—Jacobs 2, Arnold, O'Hearn. Referee—Slocum. Time—15-minute halves.

The Tornadoes, who have yet to lose a game in basket ball, held up their reputation in fine style by defeating the Whirlwinds 34-12, an odd fact being that eight of the losers' 12 points were thrown on foul tries. The victory came largely as a result of the two speedy Tornado forwards, J. Nolan and R. Sullivan, who made 32 of the 34 points. Their work was easily the feature of the contest, each putting the ball through the net eight times. Ottlidge, Oxx and Robson played the best game ofr the losers. Line-up and summary:

Tornadoes	Whirlwinds
J. Nolan, r. f.	l. g., Flagg, O. Holmes
R. Sullivan, l. f.	r. g., O. Holmes, Flagg
Buchanan, c.	c., Robson, Ottlidge
Carr, Leonard, r. g.	l. f., Ottlidge, Robson
Reynolds, l. g.	r. f., Oxx

Score—Tornadoes 34, Whirlwinds 12. Goals from floor—Nolan 8, Sullivan 8, Buchanan, Robson, Ottlidge. Goals from the foul line—Ottlidge 8. Referee—Slocum. Time—15-minute halves.

The Bats continued their winning streak in the Employed Boys' League, when they defeated the Hawks and Cranes easily in the relay races. The other relay race was won by the Cranes, who succeeded in out-sprinting the Hawks. In the standing the Bats with 46 1-3 points hold a big advantage over the Cranes, who are second with 16 1-3. The Hawks are last with 11 1-3 points.

OPERA HOUSE HEAD-LINERS.

"The Port of Doom" and "The Dread Inheritance" Thrilling Productions.

Laura Sawyer, at the Opera House in "The Port of Doom" presents one of the most thrilling spectacular productions witnessed in some time. In the leading role she plays the part of Kate Kirby, the detective, and as in all the other Kate Kirby series her work is well done. The most startling scene is the sinking of a ship, on which are a crowd of people, and the heroic work performed by a small craft which happens by. Another striking scene is where the dope fiend has a struggle with Miss Sawyer, and finally the mutiny on board, the men refusing to do any more work, and the consequences which follow.

"The Dread Inheritance" Warren Kerrigan, is another head-liner. What if one were plainly told, after he had reached manhood, that he had inherited a dreaded malady? he would be do? What if you loved a girl at the time? Would he close his eyes and rush headlong into an alliance which might wreck his posterity? Such is the case with Warren Kerrigan in this release.

"A Man of the People", a Nestor drama! "How Freckles Won his Bride" a Powers comedy, and "Mike and Jake in Mexico", a Joker comedy, complete the change.

Monday and Tuesday Helen Gardner in "The Wife of Cain" will be the top-liner.

NEWPORT ARTISTS.

Potter League of Good Citizenship Discusses Famous Painters.

Potter League of Good Citizenship met Thursday afternoon, Miss Catherine Jenckes director and president, Annabella Jestings in the chair. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, Lillian James, the children were told to keep to the right in order to avoid jostling people these busy shopping days.

Miss Jenckes gave the first talk in the course for the year, on "Famous Portrait Painters and Artists, who have lived in Newport." The children repeated what had been told them and notes were taken. The artists discussed this month in the schools were Gilbert Stuart, Edward Green Malbone, William Morris Hunt and John LaFarge.

Gilbert Stuart was born in Saunderstown in 1755 and studied here. He painted portraits of George Washington, one of which is now in the old State House, Newport, and another in Providence.

Edward Green Malbone was born in Newport in 1777 and died, universally beloved, at the age of 32, of consumption. He was a celebrated miniature painter, one of his originals being now in the Newport Historical Society's collection. His teachers abroad declared that they were unable to teach him anything, so proficient was he in the art.

William Louis Hunt came to Newport in 1850, buying the house on the corner of Bellevue avenue and Touro street. At the foot of the garden was his studio. Mr. Hunt decorated the capitol at Albany with "The Flight of Night" and "The Discoverer," cut in stone.

John La Farge came to Newport when a young man and was a pupil of Hunt. He is known as the inventor of stained glass as it is today. Formerly only one bright color effect was gained, but now by placing thin pieces of different colored glass on top of each other the whole effect is entirely changed. Examples of La Farge's work may be seen in the United Congregational and Channing Memorial Churches here.

Vito Pinto and Madeline Pike were appointed good order officers at Potter for the coming month.

MAY HELP THE SCHOOLS.

City Treasurer Receives Additional Funds From the State.

The city treasurer has received $1,500 more from the general treasurer on account of the schools. This is the amount due July 15, and is all that can be expected at present on account of what the state owes the city at present for schools. This leaves $7 818.07 due.

The arrival of this $1,500 gives a balance of $8 149.71 in the school account. This is equal to 71 per cent of the salary roll for this month, and if some of the teachers who receive the larger amounts could do without theirs for a time it would be possible to pay the lower grade teachers 75 per cent. Just what will be done is as yet unknown, but it looks like a plain 50 per cent payment. A different arrangement can be made for the teachers in the grammar schools.

WINS THREE SUITS

Town of Portsmouth Brings Liquor Cases Against Prudence Man.

Portsmouth held the attention of the district court this morning, when Constable Corcoran of Portsmouth proper and Special Constable David Buffum of Prudence marshalled their evidence against Cornelius Moynahan of Potter's cove, island of Prudence, town of Portsmouth. It must be agreed that the marshalling was successful, for the town won out in three suits one for selling, one for maintaining a common nuisance and one against liquors and vessels seized in a raid.

Sentence was deferred in the sale case until December 30 and an appeal will be taken. In the nuisance case Mr. M. A. Sullivan, counsel for defendant, made a motion for dismissal on the ground that continuance to constitute a nuisance had not been shown, but he lost. The case goes to the grand jury.

To give an opportunity to defendant to appeal all the cases were continued to December 30. M. A. Sullivan appeared for defendant and Mr. MacLeod of Burdick & MacLeod for the town.

Tiverton was represented in court by two cases. One was for drunkenness and the prisoner not having any money went to jail.

After the Prudence cases the court proceeded to hear that against John Dunn of Tiverton, charged with selling. This was still on when the court adjourned for something to eat.

TWENTY DEGREES COLDER.

Grass Yields to Frost Bite in the Change to Winter Weather.

Every one had opportunity to note that it was cool this morning; some may have called it cold. It was as cold as any day, but the wind did not blow. The cold was more apparent in some ways than at any other time this winter, as the grass for the first time showed where the green had yielded to the frost bite. At the Water Works pumping station the low mark was 18 about 4 o'clock the same as on the Twelfth, but at the News office at 8 it was 23, against 24 at the same hour last Friday. After that the low mark was much more pronounced, for today it was 28 at noon against 36 at noon last Friday, and at 2 p m. it was only 32, just at the freezing point, against 42 at the same hour last Friday. It was just 20 degrees colder this morning than it was Thursday morning, and it felt it.

BARNEY'S IMPROVEMENTS.

Rear Part of Store Given Home-Like Cheerfulness.

The "Meet me at Barney's" invitation which has been extended to the public since the opening of this store has now been carried a little further. While there has always been a correspondence desk and telephone for the convenience of those who go in to wait for their friends, there has now been a re-furnishing in the rear part of the establishment which has given it home-like cheerfulness, with comfortable chairs around a large table. This reception room affords a ready approach to the demonstration rooms of the Victor department, and even these have been re-furnished, like the outer part being decorated with handsome rugs, Mission furniture and pleasing lighting effects.

A FINANCIAL WINNER.

Rogers Football Eleven of 1913 Fortunate in Playing at Home.

Seven Games Won, Two Lost and One Tied a Good Record in Spite of Disadvantages.

In contrast with Rogers football elevens in other years, the 1913 team closed the season a big financial winner, due no doubt to the increased attendance and the teams played. At the beginning there were only three games scheddled, but as the season went along teams were secured during each week to play the following Saturday. As a result five of the 10 games were with local teams which had little or no expenses, while on one of the away-from-home games the Rogers team was given full expenses.

Starting the season with some of the regulars but none of the last year's stars in the line-up, the team began as an untried eleven, and the degree to which it was a success can best be shown by the record of seven games won, two lost and one tied. All those won were played at home, while the team lived up to the traditional record that Rogers rarely wins away from home by losing two games and tying a third in other cities. One of the defeats and the tie can be attributed solely to inability to kick goals after touchdowns, as one game was lost to "Fall River" High by the score of 7-6, while Rogers could have won the game in Taunton which resulted in a tie, 6-6.

As a scoring machine this year's team cannot be compared to last year's championship aggregation, but it had an unsullied goal line in all games at home until the last, when the Alumni were presented with two points on a mistaken safety. Last year Malden scored 13 points on Rogers. Fort Greble tallied six, while the Alumni added three more in games played at the Civic League lot. The teams played this season, while not nearly so good as those last year, were nevertheless, as a rule, much heavier than Rogers, and no small praise can be given for the good record made.

The team was forced to go through the season at the great disadvantage of not having a regular coach. Although Mr J. J. Dougherty of the Training Station helped the boys some in the very first part of the season, he was by no means the regular coach that Dr. DeElois had always been. Hence the Rogers playing was somewhat ragged in the first few games and it was not until the season was half over that the team could break the hoodoo of being able to score only a solitary touchdown in each game This was due to lack of coaching, but after the team had played together for that time the latent powers were gradually developed, and Rogers scored 86 of the total of 118 points in four of the last five games played.

Another handicap overcome was lack of material. At no time during the season did the team have more than four substitutes, and while the previous year's squad numbered 26 this season's had but 16. An injury to any of the regulars would weaken the team considerably, but fortunately the injuries were few. At the start Arthur Sullivan was appointed temporary captain, and before the first game Emil Jemail was chosen field captain. Later in the season Jemail was unanimously elected captain.

Rogers failed to cross their oppon-
